Winter Storms Sweep Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rains ceased in Southern California today, but a major winter storm plowed across the eastern half of the nation and arctic air swept in behind to chill the midcontinent.

Southern California had suffered five consecutive days of rain — accompanied by rock and mud slides, high tides and heavy snow in the mountains — before the rains stopped. But the storm moved inland into the snowbound San Bernardino Mountains, dumping more snow on communities already isolated for four days.

Two families on Malibu beach were evacuated as pounding surf loosened pilings and a retaining wall.

Heavy snows laid a blanket of white two to six inches deep from Missouri and Iowa into the lower Great Lakes region and western Pennsylvania. Freezing rain or sleet glazed much of the Ohio Valley and spread southward as temperatures fell.

Showers and thunderstorms dampened areas from Louisiana and Arkansas through Tennessee and West Virginia to the Atlantic Coast.

Travel advisories were issued for freezing rain and sleet from southeastern Iowa to Arkansas and southern Kentucky and from West Virginia to Delaware and western Pennsylvania.

Arctic cold dipped as far south as northern Texas, and dense fog covered parts of Missouri, much of Arkansas and stretches of the Gulf Coast.

An ice storm at Arnold, Mo., south of St. Louis, stranded about 300 children at school Tuesday. The principal said he expected some of them to bed down in the cafeteria and gymnasium.

Icy roads contributed to the death of two persons in Southern Illinois when the cars in which they were riding collided Tuesday night.

Some snow fell over northern Montana, and rain and snow showers covered areas from the southern Rockies through the southern Plateau region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 23 at Hibbing, Minn., to 76 at Key West and Miami, Fla.

Curb Wheat Drain, Government Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's bakers, alarmed at a drain on the U.S. wheat supply, want the Nixon Administration to begin rationing foreign deliveries of the grain at least until a new crop is ready next summer.

Officials of the American Bakers Association called a news conference for today to announce their plan.

The uproar in the baking industry followed disclosure Tuesday by the Agriculture Department that wheat exporters are being urged privately to hold down foreign deliveries until the 1974 harvest begins.

By then, agriculture officials said, farmers will be harvesting a record crop of 2 billion bushels. They say it will be enough wheat to meet sales requirements and add a bit to the shrinking stockpile.

Richard E. Bell, deputy assistant secretary for international affairs and commodity programs, told reporters that the exporters were approached recently.

Bell said no agreements have been made and that he had no figures to indicate how much wheat the department would like to see held back from export during the remainder of the 1973-74 marketing year, which ends June 30.

When the new crop is ready next summer, the department expects the wheat reserve to be 210 million bushels, less than one-half the stockpile last summer and the smallest since 1948.

The estimate, however, may be too high. Listings by exporters show about 1.3 billion bushels of wheat may be sold overseas this season, about 125 million bushels more than department estimates.

Thus, if the higher figure is correct, the wheat stockpile next July 1 could be 85 million bushels. That is not enough to meet requirements in an orderly manner, say bakers and other domestic users.

Price also is a factor. The department said that farmers last month averaged a record $4.78 per bushel for wheat, up from $2.38 a year earlier. In July 1972, just before the big sales of grain to the Soviet Union became public knowledge, the farm price of wheat was $1.32 per bushel.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other administration farm leaders have vigorously opposed export controls, suggested by some as a way to conserve U.S. farm commodities.

As the lawmakers returned Tuesday from weekend recess, House Speaker A.G. Lincione, D-99 Bellaire, announced the appointment of a Select House Committee on Energy to be headed by his top lieutenant, Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe, D-89 New Boston.

The committee is to receive and conduct hearings on all energy bills received in the House, eliminate duplication, set priorities, and recommend the standing committees to which they will be assigned.

Men Remain In Intensive Care Units

Three men remain in intensive care units as results of two separate accidents on U.S. Route 23.

Thirty-nine-year-old Dean Colbert Conneaut is still in the intensive care unit at University Hospital, Columbus, after sustaining injuries in a head-on collision on U.S. Route 23 Tuesday morning.

Colbert is listed in satisfactory condition this morning after spending most of Tuesday in surgery. He had been listed in critical condition after returning from the operating room late Tuesday afternoon.

No change is reported in the condition of Forrest Webster, 43, 218 Walnut St. He is listed in serious condition this morning at Riverside Hospital, Columbus. Webster is still in the intensive care unit after suffering a fractured left ankle, chin and elbow and injuries to the chest and head in the collision.

The State Highway Patrol reports Webster was traveling north on Route 23 in the southbound lane when his car and Colbert's vehicle collided head-on demolishing both autos.

Webster's vehicle burst into flames after the impact. A witness to the accident pulled the injured man from the wreckage. Patrolman Robert Hartsook is still conducting the investigation of the accident.

Another accident victim, Danny Newell, 22, Columbus, also remains in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus. Newell is listed in critical condition after sustaining injuries in a one-car collision 5:30 a.m. Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies are still investigating the accident which happened on U.S. Route 23. Newell's car crashed into the guardrail near the Route 22 cloverleaf.

Europe Steers Own Course On Oil Policy

PARIS (AP) — West European countries are going ahead with new deals with the Arab oil producers despite the Nixon Administration's talk of a joint policy for the consumer nations.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger called last December for the Western nations and Japan to work together in search of new energy sources and to conserve their present supplies.

Kissinger said Monday that President Nixon will be contacting about 20 nations this week, and officials in Brussels said Nixon is thinking about a conference on oil supplies in Washington next month.

Meanwhile the French government has made a deal with Saudi Arabia guaranteeing it 10 million tons of Saudi oil a year for the next three years in addition to the 30 million tons France already buys.

The French are believed to have clinched the deal by agreeing to sell King Faisal 35 Mirage jet fighters. Sources say an understanding may also have been reached for installation of the French color television system in the desert kingdom.

U.S. officials in Washington expressed surprise at the report that the Saudis might be buying Mirages. Before the October Arab-Israeli war and the Saudi oil embargo against the United States, the United States had opened negotiations for the sale of Phantom jets to the Saudi air force.

Britain is reported negotiating with the Saudis for some 35 million tons of oil a year for three years. In return, according to reports from London, the British would supply Saudi Arabia with an industrial base, including the capacity to produce sophisticated armaments eventually.

problems in the field but also "will take a look at long range solutions to a crisis that could be with us for many years."

Across the Statehouse, Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, said he had no plans to name a special committee to handle energy bills. Instead, Gray said he plans to refer them to the standing Committee on Ways & Means headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

Both chambers held routine floor sessions. The Senate had no bills up for a vote, but received three new ones. Eight measures were introduced in the House, including one that would allow Ohio to comply with a federal 55-mile-per-hour speed limit and avoid loss of its federal highway funds.

The House approved seven bills and

Politics Influence Milk Price Stand

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The White House says "traditional political considerations," but not campaign contributions, influenced President Nixon's 1971 decision to boost milk price supports. It kept the lid on tapes and documents involved in the incident.

Acknowledgement that politics figured in the controversial decision was made in one of two "white papers" issued Tuesday to counter charges that contributions swayed Nixon in the milk case and in an antitrust suit involving International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Although the White House at one time considered making public summaries of tapes and papers bearing on the two cases, it said such a step was vetoed because Nixon felt strongly about maintaining the confidentiality of presidential files.

The tapes and documents already have been given to Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, and the White House expressed hope he and a federal grand jury "will respect the confidentiality of these materials."

The carefully prepared and detailed "white papers" made these key arguments in defense of Nixon's conduct:

—Milk prices. Under Democratic leadership, Congress was about to pass a bill ordering higher price supports, and Nixon "could not veto it without alienating the farmers — an essential part of his political constituency." He knew of promised 1972 campaign contributions from the three largest dairy cooperatives but did not discuss them with dairy leaders or with advisers who helped him reach his decision.

—ITT. Nixon intervened only once in the ITT antitrust case, after former aide John D. Ehrlichman told him the Justice Department was about to act contrary to Nixon's personal philosophy. He withdrew the intervention two days later after John N. Mitchell, then attorney general, reasoned that otherwise Erwin N. Griswold might resign as solicitor general. All this took place before ITT pledged financial support if the 1972 Republican National Convention were held in San Diego, Calif.

The two White House statements, made public with scant advance notice, apparently ended the so-called "Operation Candor" disclosures that began with the release last month of Nixon's tax returns. Aides said they knew of no further statements concerning Watergate-related matters.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader and others are suing Nixon, contending he increased milk price supports in return for $427,000 in campaign donations from the three biggest dairy co-ops.

The milk case statement said "there was no mention of campaign contributions" at a March 23, 1971, meeting of Nixon and dairy leaders.

The White House said later that day Nixon met on the support issue with seven advisers and "the political power of the dairy industry lobby" was brought to the President's attention.

It said he was told that legislation to increase the support level had the support of House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, "two of the most powerful legislators in the country."

"Neither the secretary nor anyone else discussed possible contributions to the President's campaign," said the White House.

The 17-page statement continued: "The President himself concluded that the final decision came down to the fact that Congress was going to pass the higher support legislation, and he could not veto it without alienating the farmers — an essential part of his political constituency."

For the first time, the White House said Nixon had no knowledge of a 1969 contribution of $100,000 from Associated Milk Producers, Inc., delivered to the President's attorney. However, it acknowledged that Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel, wrote a memo to Nixon in 1970 that AMPI had pledged $2 million for his 1972 campaign. It actually contributed $427,000.

After the White House statement was released, John Butterbrodt, president of AMPI, told newsmen in Chicago:

"Nixon is telling the truth. Basically we had Congress ready to propose and support a bill to raise the price support to 85 per cent."

But Butterbrodt said although Nixon has answered the question of the price support issue, he has still not answered why an antitrust suit was filed against AMPI in January 1972, after AMPI stopped contributions to the Nixon campaign.

The eight-page ITT statement said there was no relation between an out-of-court settlement of an antitrust case against the corporation and ITT's payment of $100,000 as part of a pledge to help underwrite a GOP convention in San Diego.

The case, brought in 1969, challenged ITT acquisitions of the Grinnell Corp., the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. and Canteen Corp.

The White House said Nixon "expressed irritation with the failure" of Richard McLaren, then assistant attorney general for antitrust, "to follow his policy." It said Nixon telephoned Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst "and ordered that the appeal not be filed."

The statement said that two days later Nixon withdrew the order after Mitchell reasoned with him that Griswold, "as a personal matter ... had prepared his brief for appeal and would resign were the appeal not to proceed."

It treated ITT's San Diego pledge as an entirely separate and unrelated matter, saying:

"The President was unaware of any commitment by ITT to make a contribution ... at the time he took action on the antitrust case. In fact, the President's antitrust actions took place entirely in April of 1971 — several weeks before the ITT pledge was even made."

Defense Spending To Rise Sharply In New Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposed fiscal 1975 budget will call for an increase in defense spending exceeding $5 billion, higher than earlier estimates, says Budget Director Roy Ash.

Ash, head of the Office of Management and Budget, said in an interview that it will take $5 billion to finance higher pay and price increases for the military. On top of that, the defense budget will contain "a number of initiatives" to add to present programs, he said.

"It will be a fully adequate defense budget," Ash said. "It will do more than just make up for the high cost of material and the higher pay to those in the service."

He called the increase "the right thing to do in the world as it now is."

The defense budget for the fiscal year that ends June 30 is $79 billion. Although Ash gave no figure, sources indicated that the increase could be as much as $6 billion to $8 billion.

As for the budget as a whole, Ash said it would carry a deficit of between $6 billion and $10 billion.

While not providing a precise figure on what the budget would be, Ash said he did not see any way of avoiding going over $300 billion. This would be an increase of at least $27 billion.

Ash said the new spending program will include funds for a start on national health insurance, although he said it will be 1977 before that proposed program would have a significant dollar impact on the budget. Nixon is expected to detail his national health insurance plan soon and send legislation to Congress early this year.

Ash said the budget will contain significant amounts for research and development in energy. The budget will reflect a 5-year, $10 billion energy research program recommended by Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Ash said the administration energy research proposal would not vary substantially from the AEC plan, which calls for federal spending of $1.6 billion in the first year.

The research program would put heavy emphasis on development of coal and would continue present programs to develop nuclear energy, Ash said.

Ash said the budget will contain a new revenue sharing program for transportation, under which money can be sent out to localities to spend for their transportation needs.

State Lottery Meets Continue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The City of Dayton today offered the Ohio Lottery Commission more than $100,000 in economic concessions if the commission would locate its state headquarters there.

Representatives of the western Ohio city offered the commission 20,000 square feet of rent-free office space in downtown Dayton, free use of the Dayton Convention Center for drawings and free consulting services in exchange for the headquarters.

The civil leaders said the concessions would amount to $115,000-$200,000 a year in savings.

Revised Campaign Finance Bill Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senate Republicans will offer a political campaign finance bill widely revised from a GOP proposal that died at last year's special legislative session.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, said Tuesday the "vehicle" will be the same as last year's but that "changes are extensive" in the measure which is being put together for possible introduction next week.

Aronoff is chairman of the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Elections Committee which will consider the proposal along with a Housepassed bill setting up a system of no fault insurance in Ohio.

Those are major items to come before the 1974 session along with a growing list of bills and proposals on the energy crisis. The House moved Tuesday to prepare for an expected

Curb Wheat Drain, Government Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's bakers, alarmed at a drain on the U.S. wheat supply, want the Nixon Administration to begin rationing foreign deliveries of the grain at least until a new crop is ready next summer.

Officials of the American Bakers Association called a news conference for today to announce their plan.

The uproar in the baking industry followed disclosure Tuesday by the Agriculture Department that wheat exporters are being urged privately to hold down foreign deliveries until the 1974 harvest begins.

By then, agriculture officials said, farmers will be harvesting a record crop of 2 billion bushels. They say it will be enough wheat to meet sales requirements and add a bit to the shrinking stockpile.

Richard E. Bell, deputy assistant secretary for international affairs and commodity programs, told reporters that the exporters were approached recently.

Bell said no agreements have been made and that he had no figures to indicate how much wheat the department would like to see held back from export during the remainder of the 1973-74 marketing year, which ends June 30.

When the new crop is ready next summer, the department expects the wheat reserve to be 210 million bushels, less than one-half the stockpile last summer and the smallest since 1948.

The estimate, however, may be too high. Listings by exporters show about 1.3 billion bushels of wheat may be sold overseas this season, about 125 million bushels more than department estimates.

Thus, if the higher figure is correct, the wheat stockpile next July 1 could be 85 million bushels. That is not enough to meet requirements in an orderly manner, say bakers and other domestic users.

Price also is a factor. The department said that farmers last month averaged a record $4.78 per bushel for wheat, up from $2.38 a year earlier. In July 1972, just before the big sales of grain to the Soviet Union became public knowledge, the farm price of wheat was $1.32 per bushel.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other administration farm leaders have vigorously opposed export controls, suggested by some as a way to conserve U.S. farm commodities.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senate Republicans will offer a political campaign finance bill widely revised from a GOP proposal that died at last year's special legislative session.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, said Tuesday the "vehicle" will be the same as last year's but that "changes are extensive" in the measure which is being put together for possible introduction next week.

Aronoff is chairman of the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Elections Committee which will consider the proposal along with a Housepassed bill setting up a system of no fault insurance in Ohio.

Those are major items to come before the 1974 session along with a growing list of bills and proposals on the energy crisis. The House moved Tuesday to prepare for an expected

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices took big losses over a wide range today, amid investor fears about the adverse effects of escalating oil prices on world economies and the rising value of the dollar on profits of large international companies.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 17.99 at 843.79. Declining Big Board issues outpaced gainers by almost 10 to 1.

"The devaluation of the dollar was one of the main reasons why some of the big international companies had such large profits last year," said Alan R. Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "A rise in the dollar will have just the opposite effect."

Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co. said investors were worried about how the rising price of oil would affect the economies of Europe, Japan, and underdeveloped nations, in particular.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down 1.33 to 95.25. The Amex volume leader was Trans Lux down 1/4 to 2A.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 1.05 at 50.47.7.

Ralph Starkey Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

KIWANIS SPEAKER — Ralph Starkey, left, Superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys, was the speaker at the Kiwanis Meeting Tuesday. Starkey was introduced by Charles Hart, right. The meeting was to honor the 1973 Circleville High School Football Team.

Circleville Kiwanis met Tuesday at Pickaway Arms with Fred Bower, president, presiding.

Speaker for the meeting was Ralph Starkey, Superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys.

Starkey has extensive experience with children, as chief probation officer of Pickaway County Juvenile Court for seven years, two years executive secretary of Children's Services Agency in Pickaway County, and two years as Superintendent of the Children's Home and three years Administrator of County School Program of severely retarded children.

The topic for the program was "What's It Like To Play for The Circleville Tigers".

A native of Circleville, Starkey

played high school football before going to West Virginia. He was captain of the team which went to the Sugar Bowl. Starkey emphasized the things he learned while playing high school football. Learning the values of good relationships with others, the need for cooperation, the value of competition and how important it is to reinforce or commend others for their good deeds were stressed by Starkey.

The meeting Tuesday was to honor the 1973 Circleville High School football team. Coach Larry Cook introduced three coaches and 22 football players who were present.

In other business, perfect attendance tabs were presented by Ray Cundiff to Mike Wilson, two years; Charles Reid, four years and Bill Fischer, seven years.

Kissinger Slates New Mideast Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may fly to Egypt later this week and then on to Israel in an effort to add momentum to the Middle East peace conference in Geneva, it was learned today.

The trip would be Kissinger's third to the region since the October war.

The immediate problem is bringing Israel and Egypt together on a disengagement of their armies near the Suez Canal.

Kissinger and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan reached apparent agreement Saturday on a proposal Israel would make after it has cleared the Israeli Cabinet. Kissinger's new visit to Cairo would provide a means of clearing the proposal with the Egyptians.

Israeli and Egyptian military negotiators met only briefly at Geneva today. The shortness of their session indicated that they were awaiting guidance from higher authorities.

Kissinger has taken a personal hand in trying to work out a settlement,

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Retail sales in Ohio in November were 13 per cent higher than for the same month last year, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reported today.

Sales in November also increased by 7 per cent over seasonally adjusted October levels, the center said.

Biggest gains in sales were by farm and garden stores, 60 per cent, by fuel dealers, 53 per cent, and by filling stations, 34 per cent, the center said.

Twelve month increases, by location, ranged from 7 per cent in the Youngstown area, the center reported, to 28 per cent in the Portsmouth area. Only the Toledo area showed a 1972-73 decline in sales, one of 2 per cent, the center said.

Perk Given GOP Push For Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk was unanimously heralded by Republican representatives from 14 large Ohio counties Tuesday as the party's best choice for U.S. senator.

The group also agreed on James A. Rhodes for governor and two current office-holders — Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown — for re-election.

It stayed away from other races in a closed-door session, but a source said there was general agreement that State Rep. C. William O'Neill, R-28 Columbus, would be a better choice for attorney general than Franklin County Prosecutor George Smith.

The move was another in the party's continued progress toward a so-called consensus primary ticket.

Party leaders, possibly remembering the past, hesitated to use the word endorsement. State chairman Kent B. McGough has said he personally doesn't like the idea of a party slate and that the state executive committee, which meets Tuesday, has gone on record against endorsements.

Indications since April, when a candidate recruitment committee was named, have left little doubt that the consensus approach is headed toward what can amount to endorsements.

Endorsement has been a bad word for the party since 1953 when it unexpectedly approved George Bender over William B. Saxbe for U.S. Senate.

Saxbe lost the primary but gave the party a tongue-lashing it can't forget. He called the then state chairman, Ray Bliss, "a Judas goat leading the lambs to slaughter."

Tunney Rips Lack Of Oil Firm Data

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California Sen. John V. Tunney says he has reports of oil tankers arriving as fast or faster than a year ago and that storage tanks in the Los Angeles area are "filled to brim" with oil.

"If these and other reports we are getting are accurate, it could represent a conspiracy far greater than anything in the Teapot Dome scandal," Tunney said Tuesday.

"The figures lead one to believe that the oil companies are withholding oil from the market to jack up prices and maximize profits."

"I cannot conclude that with finality from the information we have received so far, but obviously the situation is very suspicious and should be thoroughly investigated."

The Democratic senator met with members of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, labor leaders and industry representatives.

A harbor department spokesman said almost as many ships have come in during the last 12 months as the previous year — 780 in 1973 compared with 790 in 1972.

"We don't have final figures, however, on the number of barrels on each ship," the spokesman added.

Tunney said in his meetings there was "a widespread belief that there is a conspiracy among the oil companies, yet we cannot get the figures on plant capacity or storage."

"It is absolutely critical for Congress to have independent statistics on the oil situation. Now all we have are figures from the American Petroleum Institute," Tunney said.

Energy Ads Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six members of Congress today challenged oil firms and utilities to substantiate their advertising claims concerning the energy crisis.

The lawmakers said they are joining a public-interest group in petitioning the Federal Trade Commission to adopt new rules on such advertising.

Taking the action were Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.; and Frank Moss, D-Utah; and Reps. Les Aspin, D-Wis.; Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y.; and Andrew Young, D-Ga.

Many big oil companies and utilities are making "an unprecedented and unsubstantiated propaganda blitz concerning their role in the current energy crisis," Aspin and Rosenthal said in a joint statement.

The commission is being asked to adopt rules forcing such firms to substantiate their "corporate image advertising claims by making available to the FTC for public inspection currently concealed facts on such issues as the true scope of the energy crisis and their part in it," they added.

U.S. Dollar Weakens On European Market

LONDON (AP) — The dollar slipped in early trading today against European currencies.

The pound sterling was stronger, standing at $2.2495 early today, up from $2.2307 at the close Tuesday.

The weakening of the dollar was attributed by London dealers to the improved outlook for European balance of payments returns after a reduction in the posted price of Libyan oil.

According to Thomas D. Rose, total resources were over $6,000, which is a record high for the Saltcreek Bank.

Three Appear In Common Pleas Court

Two men appeared in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court this morning for sentencing after entering guilty pleas to felony charges. A third appeared on a charge of violation of probation.

George Williams, 206 W. High St., was sentenced by Judge William Ammer to 1-10 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary for incest.

A plea of guilty was entered by Tom Tootle, attorney for Ernest Zeigler, Columbus. Zeigler was charged with grand larceny. The court placed him on probation for a period of one year.

Paul Downard, Columbus, was found guilty of violation of probation. The court continued the case until Jan. 16 for final disposition.

Brennan Sees Labor Demands Rising In 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan predicts workers this year will want "their pound of flesh" in higher salaries to offset inflation, "and I'm not saying they're wrong."

At a news conference Tuesday, Brennan indicated that the government may soon have to modify or abandon its 5.5 per cent salary increase guideline because of the spiraling cost of living.

The secretary said he does not know what action the Cost of Living Council, which administers the guideline, will take. But he said that if the inflationary trend continues wage contract demands will be much higher in 1974.

The government has already given its blessing to several major wage settlements substantially above the 5.5 per cent level.

Bunker Leaves Panama Talks

PANAMA (AP) — Ellsworth Bunker, the longtime American diplomat assigned to work out new treaty arrangements on the Panama Canal, has left here without announcing any agreement.

Panama seeks complete sovereignty over the U.S.-governed Canal Zone while the United States wants to maintain military control.

However, both sides agree a new treaty is necessary to replace the one signed in 1903 which gives the United States perpetual control.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices took big losses over a wide range today, amid investor fears about the adverse effects of escalating oil prices on world economies and the rising value of the dollar on profits of large international companies.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 17.99 at 843.79. Declining Big Board issues outpaced gainers by almost 10 to 1.

"The devaluation of the dollar was one of the main reasons why some of the big international companies had such large profits last year," said Alan R. Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "A rise in the dollar will have just the opposite effect."

Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co. said investors were worried about how the rising price of oil would affect the economies of Europe, Japan, and underdeveloped nations, in particular.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down 1.33 to 95.25. The Amex volume leader was Trans Lux down 1/8 to 2A.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 1.05 at 50.47.7.

Ralph Starkey Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

KIWANIS SPEAKER — Ralph Starkey, left, Superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys, was the speaker at the Kiwanis Meeting Tuesday. Starkey was introduced by Charles Hart, right. The meeting was to honor the 1973 Circleville High School Football Team.

Circleville Kiwanis met Tuesday at Pickaway Arms with Fred Bower, president, presiding.

Speaker for the meeting was Ralph Starkey, Superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys.

Starkey has extensive experience with children, as chief probation officer of Pickaway County Juvenile Court for seven years, two years executive secretary of Children's Services Agency in Pickaway County, and two years as Superintendent of the Children's Home and three years Administrator of County School Program of severely retarded children.

The topic for the program was "What's It Like To Play For The Circleville Tigers".

A native of Circleville, Starkey

played high school football before going to West Virginia. He was captain of the team which went to the Sugar Bowl. Starkey emphasized the things he learned while playing high school football. Learning the values of good relationships with others, the need for cooperation, the value of competition and how important it is to reinforce or commend others for their good deeds were stressed by Starkey.

The meeting Tuesday was to honor the 1973 Circleville High School football team. Coach Larry Cook introduced three coaches and 22 football players who were present.

In other business, perfect attendance tabs were presented by Ray Cundiff to Mike Wilson, two years; Charles Reid, four years and Bill Fischer, seven years.

Kissinger Slates New Mideast Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may fly to Egypt later this week and then on to Israel in an effort to add momentum to the Middle East peace conference in Geneva, it was learned today.

The trip would be Kissinger's third to the region since the October war.

The immediate problem is bringing Israel and Egypt together on a disengagement of their armies near the Suez Canal.

Kissinger and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan reached apparent agreement Saturday on a proposal Israel would make after it has cleared the Israeli Cabinet. Kissinger's new visit to Cairo would provide a means of clearing the proposal with the Egyptians.

Israeli and Egyptian military negotiators met only briefly at Geneva today. The shortness of their session indicated that they were awaiting guidance from higher authorities.

Kissinger has taken a personal hand in trying to work out a settlement.

Perk Given GOP Push For Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk was unanimously heralded by Republican representatives from 14 large Ohio counties Tuesday as the party's best choice for U.S. senator.

The group also agreed on James A. Rhodes for governor and two current office-holders— Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown—for re-election.

It stayed away from other races in a closed-door session, but a source said there was general agreement that State Rep. C. William O'Neill, R-28 Columbus, would be a better choice for attorney general than Franklin County Prosecutor George Smith.

The move was another in the party's continued progress toward a so-called consensus primary ticket.

Party leaders, possibly remembering the past, hesitated to use the word endorsement. State chairman Kent B. McGough has said he personally doesn't like the idea of a party slate and that the state executive committee, which meets Tuesday, has gone on record against endorsements.

Indications since April, when a candidate recruitment committee was named, have left little doubt that the consensus approach is headed toward what can amount to endorsements.

Endorsement has been a bad word for the party since 1953 when it unexpectedly approved George Bender over William B. Saxbe for U.S. Senate.

Saxbe lost the primary but gave the party a tongue-lashing it can't forget. He called the then state chairman, Ray Bliss, "a Judas goat leading the lambs to slaughter."

Tunney Rips Lack Of Oil Firm Data

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California Sen. John V. Tunney says he has reports of oil tankers arriving as fast or faster than a year ago and that storage tanks in the Los Angeles area are "filled to brim" with oil.

"If these and other reports we are getting are accurate, it could represent a conspiracy far greater than anything in the Teapot Dome scandal," Tunney said Tuesday.

"The figures lead one to believe that the oil companies are withholding oil from the market to jack up prices and maximize profits."

"I cannot conclude that with finality from the information we have received so far, but obviously the situation is very suspicious and should be thoroughly investigated."

The Democratic senator met with members of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, labor leaders and industry representatives.

A harbor department spokesman said almost as many ships have come in during the last 12 months as the previous year — 780 in 1973 compared with 790 in 1972.

"We don't have final figures, however, on the number of barrels on each ship," the spokesman added.

Tunney said in his meetings there was "a widespread belief that there is a conspiracy among the oil companies, yet we cannot get the figures on plant capacity or storage."

"It is absolutely critical for Congress to have independent statistics on the oil situation. Now all we have are figures from the American Petroleum Institute," Tunney said.

Energy Ads Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six members of Congress today challenged oil firms and utilities to substantiate their advertising claims concerning the energy crisis.

The lawmakers said they are joining a public-interest group in petitioning the Federal Trade Commission to adopt new rules on such advertising.

Taking the action were Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.; and Frank Moss, D-Utah; and Reps. Les Aspin, D-Wis.; Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y.; and Andrew Young, D-Ga.

Many big oil companies and utilities are making "an unprecedented and unsubstantiated propaganda blitz concerning their role in the current energy crisis," Aspin and Rosenthal said in a joint statement.

The commission is being asked to adopt rules forcing such firms to substantiate their "corporate image advertising claims by making available to the FTC for public inspection currently concealed facts on such issues as the true scope of the energy crisis and their part in it," they added.

U.S. Dollar Weakens On European Market

LONDON (AP) — The dollar slipped in early trading today against European currencies.

The pound sterling was stronger, standing at $2.2495 early today, up from $2.2307 at the close Tuesday.

The weakening of the dollar was attributed by London dealers to the improved outlook for European balance of payments returns after a reduction in the posted price of Libyan oil.

Three Appear In Common Pleas Court

Two men appeared in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court this morning for sentencing after entering guilty pleas to felony charges. A third appeared on a charge of violation of probation.

George Williams, 206 W. High St., was sentenced by Judge William Ammer to 1-10 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary for incest.

A plea of guilty was entered by Tom Tootle, attorney for Ernest Zeigler, Columbus. Zeigler was charged with grand larceny. The court placed him on probation for a period of one year.

Paul Downard, Columbus, was found guilty of violation of probation. The court continued the case until Jan. 16 for final disposition.

Brennan Sees Labor Demands Rising In 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan predicts workers this year will want "their pound of flesh" in higher salaries to offset inflation, "and I'm not saying they're wrong."

At a news conference Tuesday, Brennan indicated that the government may soon have to modify or abandon its 5.5 per cent salary increase guideline because of the spiraling cost of living.

The secretary said he does not know what action the Cost of Living Council, which administers the guideline, will take. But he said that if the inflationary trend continues wage contract demands will be much higher in 1974.

The government has already given its blessing to several major wage settlements substantially above the 5.5 per cent level.

Bunker Leaves Panama Talks

PANAMA (AP) — Ellsworth Bunker, the longtime American diplomat assigned to work out new treaty arrangements on the Panama Canal, has left here without announcing any agreement.

Panama seeks complete sovereignty over the U.S.-governed Canal Zone while the United States wants to maintain military control.

However, both sides agree a new treaty is necessary to replace the one signed in 1903 which gives the United States perpetual control.

World Experts Disagree

Lexicographers and others who work with words are well acquainted with some of the idiosyncrasies of the English language. In some grammatical construction, the exceptions to the rule appear more numerous than those which fit the prescribed pattern. But dictionary makers who cannot spell?

That discovery was a bit too much for the National Council of Teachers of English at Urbana, Ill. The council says the five desk dictionaries most widely used in schools and offices "disagree on the spelling of an astonishing number of words in the English language."

At least 2,400 words, in a count the council made after studying and comparing the reference books. The council has included these variants in a book, "Variant Spellings in Modern American Dictionaries." Even a champion speller is bound to be confused after reading that compilation.

So if your reference is "The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language," "The Random House College Dictionary," "Standard College Dictionary," "Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary," or "Webster's New World Dictionary of the American Language," somewhere is another authority willing to strike an argument. Whatever happened to Latin?

Little Gals In A League

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—A truce is near in the long war between Women's Lib and the Little League. As in the case of the Arab-Israeli conflict, both sides can and will claim victory—and with some justification.

Girls will have their own league this season, under the aegis of the Little League headquarters at Williamsport, Pa. They will not be permitted to play on regular Little League teams, boys teams, which now number more than 2,000,000 players on 50,000 teams in 31 countries.

The girls, whose cause was taken up by Women's Lib and certain civil rights groups, will have "separate but equal" opportunity to play under proper management and sponsorship. They, too, will have a World Series next August, if all goes well. The boys Little League World Series has long since become a fixture on the sports calendar and invariably provides one of the best nationally televised ball games of the year.

Little League has never had anything against baseball-playing girls. Some of its best friends are baseball-playing young females. What it has fought with some determination in recent years has been the notion that girls, however expert at the game, cannot play on equal terms with boys without risking injury. Little League is justly proud of the safety record it has compiled over the years, and the safety innovations that have been adopted even in the major leagues, notably the one-flap batting helmet.

As pressures mounted on them to throw open Little League's rosters to lovely creatures made of sugar and spice, Little League chairman Pete McGovern and his associates suffered nightmares over what might happen to a girl hit by a breast-level pitch or bad bounce, or—assuming she was playing shortstop or second—being clobbered by a big strong boy intent on breaking up a double play.

McGovern's fears, exhortations and pleas did not get across to dissenters. Fathers of several barred girls sued Little League (and lost); now there are scattered suits which, if successful, would bar regular Little League games from being played in public parks and recreation fields unless the teams make way for such girl players who would appear to be able to hold their own in competition.

Dr. Thomas P. Johnson, the well-known child psychiatrist, addressing this particular charge of sex discrimination at the 12th International Congress of Little League said, "I have always felt that girls really miss out on something in our society by not having as much opportunity for competitive athletics, particularly team sports. I don't think girls should be pushed into competitive athletics but it ought to be made available to them.

"I don't think that it makes sense in a sport like Little League or Pop Warner Football for girls to be on the same teams in the same leagues with boys . . . By and large, boys are going to be heavier and stronger. Now, we could say, 'Well, what if we have a girl who's as big and strong and fast as the boys, then why not let her play?' I don't think it would turn out to be a good experience. There are other ways for it to be done that would have fewer pitfalls, fewer dangers. It just doesn't make sense to change the makeup or the structure of the boys' league now to accommodate the girls.

"But I think the girls should be accommodated. They should have their own league, and I think the fathers and the mothers should treat it just as enthusiastically and take it just as seriously as they do the boys' sports. It shouldn't be second rate, but I think it should be separate."

Indications are that about 500 Girls Little Leagues will be inaugurated this coming season. The rules will be altered to fit the change in personnel. The pitcher's mound will be situated 40 feet from home plate, instead of 46 feet. All girls will be required to wear a chest protector that is now being designed. The rules will prohibit sliding into a base, so no slide pads will be required. Rooting will be allowed; profanity deplored. The ball will be a larger, softer version of the hard little Little League ball, and will be delivered underhand.

So mark up another for the tenderer of the species, whose Joan of Arc may have been Billie Jean King. Historically, girl ball players gained equal status much more swiftly than, say, young ladies who wished to attend Princeton University. That took 222 years.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that the girl next door gets tired of hearing: "Hi, little girl. Are you with the new family that's moving in next door? Do you have any brothers I could play with? No? My name's Jack Desmond, but the kids all call me 'Desprit' Desmond for short. What's your name? Becky Schlumph? You must have made that up. Ho, ho, ho, ho!"

"Yeah, Jim, that's her over there — the little fatso with glasses. She's lived next door for less than a week, but I had to chase her out of our garden twice this morning. She had the nerve to say my mother had told her she could come over and smell the roses whenever she wanted to."

"Hey, Fatty Schlumph, my folks say our two families are going to the same vacation resort. There is only one beach there, so I'll divide it in half. I'll play on the big half and you stay on the small half. Okay?"

"On account of you living next door, Becky, I have to invite you to my birthday party. I guess you're smart enough to know that means you have to bring me a big present."

"No, for the last time, you can't play on our softball team. If we showed up with a name like Becky Schlumph in the lineup, they'd laugh us out of the league."

"Okay, Mom, to keep peace in the family, I'll take Becky to the senior prom. But it'll be like running barefoot over five miles of hot gravel."

"Naw I can't take you to the movie Saturday night, but I'll come over to your house and eat some fudge if you'll help me with my geometry."

"I think it's wise of you to go to a small college, Becky. I think a big state university like the one I'm going to would be a little too much too soon for a little chick like you."

"Dearest Becky. Desprit Desmond is really desperate this time. I have a weekend date with a rave redhead and no cash. Can you mail me a fast 10, sweetie?"

"I know I can't eat my sheepskin, Mom, and I'll start looking for work tomorrow. But look out the window and tell me who's that groovy little dame turning into the Schlumph home. You mean that gorgeous creature is little old Becky Fatstuff grown up?"

"Hi, Becky, this is old lover boy Desmond. How would you like to get back in circulation by going pub crawling tonight? You can't because you have a date with Tom? Oh."

"Nine times in a row I called you for a date, Becky, and each time you told me you were tied up with Tom. You're making me bleed, baby."

"What is this mumbo-jumbo invitation to a big church wedding between you and some jerk named Tom, Becky? Forget all that nonsense, baby, and let's me and you elope. You are my girl next door, and I've loved you all my life. I loved you at first sight that day you moved in next door, the cutest kid that ever lived on our block."

Oscar Root, named to take over the post of city safety director, declared that the present pay scale for police in Circleville needed some adjustments.

In his new position under the administration of Mayor Robert Hedges, one of the main tasks for Root would be the supervision of the police department. He also said some methods used in operation of the department also needed revision.

The opening session of Circleville's new municipal court was held in City Council chambers with Judge Sterling Lamb presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Adams of Logan St. were the parents of the first baby born in Circleville in 1954. The 7-pound, 4½-ounce boy was born 1:15 p.m. Jan. 3.

The extent to which local farmers depended upon the Circleville Fire Department for water supplies was underlined in a report issued by Fire Chief Talmer Wise.

Wise announced that during the first three days of the new year, farmers came here to draw 9,250 gallons of water. The water was needed for stock and drinking purposes.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our family is health-conscious. We think we handle problems sanely and with mature judgment.

Are there special programs that can prevent the disaster of heart attacks that strike so many of our older friends?

Mrs. E. S. S., Calif.

Dear Mrs. A.:

There are sensible ways to avoid some of the premature deaths due to cardiovascular disease.

Not all the answers to heart disease, strokes, and vascular conditions are known. But a sufficient number have been proven so that everyone can lay the groundwork for good health.

High blood pressure undiscovered, untreated, and neglected can be a major contributor to heart attacks.

Added poundage places an additional burden on the heart and increases the risk of a heart attack.

Emotional tensions and inadequate exercise are factors, too.

People with a tendency to diabetes must have that condition kept under control. Persons with a family history of diabetes, high blood pressure, or heart disease should be kept under closer medical supervision.

Poor dietary habits, with foods high in cholesterol, should be avoided. Blood studies readily reveal high cholesterol.

Tobacco, especially cigarettes, play havoc with the cardiovascular system. Tobacco should be eliminated in any health program. Children must be educated to understand that tobacco can be a severe threat to their health as they grow older.

It is shocking to find schools and parents so lax in their restrictions against the hazard of smoking.

Despite all the scientific information substantiating the role of tobacco in cardiovascular disease we are not doing an adequate job in keeping young people from beginning the smoking habit.

Arizona has embarked on an exciting program for 10,000 families with pre-school children. All known factors that lead to heart disease will be avoided. Proper diet, exercise, avoidance of obesity and tobacco, early recognition of diabetes, high blood pressure, and other diseases, will be carefully evaluated over a long period of time. Such programs may well be the answer to the modern epidemic of heart disease.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A problem bigger than the energy crisis? That's what a group of business executives claims lies in the future if the United States doesn't begin immediately to strengthen its capital markets.

Yes, says the Committee of Publicly Owned Companies, there's still another shortage, a shortage of equity capital with which to begin, improve and expand industry, and by extension, to provide goods, services and jobs.

The shortage manifests itself immediately in some of the lowest prices at which stocks have sold in years, with shares of some healthy companies selling at only twice earnings instead of 10 to 15 times.

As an immediate consequence of those depressed prices, says the committee, some American companies are highly vulnerable to takeovers by foreign bargain-hunters who accumulated dollars during the past 20 years.

In the final six months of 1973, says C.V. Wood Jr., chairman of the committee and president of McCulloch Oil Corp., foreign companies made tenders for 63 American companies, double the number of offers made in the previous six months.

Some well-known names already have succumbed, including Gimbel's, Travelodge International and Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream, all ironically to companies based in the economically depressed United Kingdom.

McCulloch cites further evidence of a capital shortage in a reduction in the number of new enterprises. During all of 1973 only 99 new stock issues were marketed compared with 568 a year earlier.

What the capital shortage does to the spirit of new enterprise and competition is part of the long-range problem, but of immediate concern to the committee of 600 companies is that it is already curtailing expansion.

"Companies have had to defer necessary improvements, replacements and expansion because of depressed market conditions," says McCulloch, who notes that while some businesses showed record high profits their prices slipped.

Why there should be a capital shortage in what has been traditionally the most capital-rich country on earth is a story in itself, with the plot centered around a securities industry suffering from functional imbalances.

The individual investor has largely deserted stocks, preferring high-interest bonds, certificates of deposits, real estate or just passbook savings.

does eventually get to the market, but indirectly and incompletely.

As even stock brokers concede, the individual investor has lost faith in the securities industry, the consequence of some scandalously inefficient operations. And the big institutional investors are concentrated in a relatively few stocks.

Bluntly stated, there is an enormous concentration of power in capital markets. A small number of the nation's banks, for example, control scores of billions of dollars in pension funds. And they invest in only a small fraction of the market.

That fraction, less than 100 corporations, enjoys fat price-earnings ratios, and has no problem expanding. Already big and powerful, they tend to become more so while healthy but less favored companies go begging.

As the situation was still developing, a spokesman for the committee noted this week, "Nobody in Washington seemed to share our interest. The securities industry was so concerned about its own intramural issues it simply lost sight of what the industry is about: raising capital for jobs, goods and services."

The committee was formed last March and now claims to speak for companies listed on major exchanges with assets of $52.4 billion, 2.3 million shareholders and 1.5 billion shares outstanding.

It is backing legislative proposals to reduce taxes on capital gains and so reattract small investors and wealthier people who find themselves locked into stocks with big gains. It is also supporting efforts to reduce concentration and restore the capital allocation function of the market.

Hold Up Outlay To University

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $1.3 million state subsidy payment to the University of Toledo is being held up pending agreement on a method for paying the salaries of professors, deputy state Auditor Thomas Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said the university, in the past, has paid professors even before they had earned their salaries.

"Now we find that two professors resigned before the end of the period for which they were paid," Ferguson said. "We also are looking into two other resignations to see if the same thing happened."

One More For The Road

The hills looked like vanilla cup cakes in the snow. The cars cut black scars and, where the road dropped steeply to the river, the old iron bridge looked like a child's Erector set. The town was on the far side, two church spires, some old-fashioned houses and a brace of traffic lights. Looking up through the fat lazy flakes, the sky seemed darker.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Daughter's Misery

DEAR ABBY: For 26 years I have been married to a man everybody thought was the perfect husband. No one knew the heartaches I suffered silently to keep my family together when my children were small.

Our daughter has been married for three years. She has one sweet baby and another on the way. Recently she confided that she has proof that her husband has been repeatedly unfaithful to her.

I have come very close to telling her that her father did me the same way. Would that be wrong? They say that misery loves company.

KANSAS CITY

DEAR KANSAS CITY: Yes, it would be wrong. If misery loves company, whose "misery" would you be attempting to provide with company: Your daughter's or your own?

DEAR ABBY: I once made the terrible mistake of sending away for some of those gummed back "name and address stickers," and I have been deluged ever since with catalogs and junk mail from a dozen different gift houses.

This junk mail clutters up my mailbox, and I don't want any of it. I never look at it, I just throw it out.

I wrote to one of these gift houses and asked them to please take my name off their mailing list, and after that I started getting TWO of everything!

I can't look my mailman in the face anymore. One day he had 22 pieces of junk mail for me. I apologized to him and explained that I didn't send for that stuff, but I know he didn't believe me. I even asked HIM how to get off their mailing lists, and he said he didn't know.

I have quit giving to charities that solicit by mail because for every one I give to, I get requests from 10 more. Can't something be done about mail-order merchants who sell lists of names to other businesses?

Bob ordered one more fast one. He was tall and skinny, a blond shoebrush on his skull, a soft boyish face about to harden into a man. He worried about his drinking because Ymelda worried. He wasn't an alcoholic. She said it affected his judgment. He said it improved his reflexes. It made him feel more at ease.

Ymelda's worry made Bob frown.

ANTI JUNK MAIL

DEAR ANTI: Other than requesting that your name be taken off the list, there is nothing you can do. I'm sorry for your mailman, but if those mail order houses want to spend money on catalogs that are never looked at, and postage to deliver them, it's their loss.

DEAR ABBY: You said that most male doctors do not get turned on by an attractive female patient. You're all wet! My ex-wife had a thing going with her doctor for a long time before I caught on. I didn't prosecute because I figured the poor guy had enough trouble being emotionally involved with my wife.

During the last five years I paid enough doctor bills to put another Cadillac in his garage.

Sweetie, you may know a lot about teen-agers, but you had better do a little more research on doctors.

BURNED ONCE

DEAR BURNED: There are exceptions in every profession, but most doctor-patient relationships are strictly professional and there is no fooling around. Too bad yours was a bummer.

British Coal Miners Hold To Demands

LONDON (AP) — The determination of British coal miners to hold out for their wage demands appears to be hardening despite Britain's growing economic crisis.

Some 3,000 miners walked off the job Monday at pits around the country, including 1,000 at five Leicestershire mines. The Leicestershire miners were protesting a union leader's suggestion that they end their eight-week ban on weekend work and overtime — which has reduced coal production more than 30 per cent — if the national interest is being damaged.

The 3,000 miners were only a tiny fraction of Britain's total of 280,000 miners. But a more serious threat was posed by the leaders of Scotland's miners, who voted unanimously to extend the ban on weekend work to three or four days a week. A meeting of the union executive Thursday will consider the proposal.

The Communist vice president of the miners' union, Michael McGahey, said: "There is something far wrong with a society that expects miners to work overtime in this most dangerous industry to survive. We will not be intimidated by any action of Ted Heath."

The miners are demanding wage increases in excess of the anti-inflation ceilings set by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government. The government contends that the nation is threatened with an electric power shortage because of the drop in coal production and on Jan. 1 put nonessential industries and businesses on a three-day work week to spread the power and keep essential services operating.

About 16 million of the nation's 25 million workers are employed in nonessential industries that have been put on the three-day week. So far, the short week has cut the pay of about 885,000 of these workers enough for them to qualify for unemployment compensation. Another 8 million are covered by guaranteed wages whether they work or not. But these guarantees are mostly for no more than a month, and the unemployed rolls are expected to balloon if the crisis continues.

"Nervous Mel," he called her. He told her that women worry about things which never happen. He snapped the shotgun up, tilted his head, and pushed the chaser away.

Outside, he turned the fleecy collar of the windbreaker up. The car was old, but it was all his. He put his gloves on and sat behind the wheel and raced the engine. It had the quiet roar of authority.

He popped two mints from the glove compartment and chewed. Then he moved the car out onto the highway slowly, staring through the metronome of the wipers. He made the turns slowly, carefully.

Bob thought of his happiness. He never spoke of it, but inside he counted himself a lucky man. He had come out of Vietnam without a purple heart, a robot rotating on a military disk.

He had saved some pay and Ymelda had been waiting as though she had not left the front door since he kissed her goodbye. It was long ago, but not that long ago. Now he had Ymelda, a down payment on a little frame house, and an infant with little blond wisps of hair like his. Mickey was the first. There would be more.

Bob had a steady job in a scrap metal yard and he was pulling down $210 a week, not counting overtime. He had no desire to be rich. In fact, with Ymelda and little Mickey, he was rich. They owed nobody except the mortgage company.

There was another baby coming, but they told no one. Not even their folks. It was too soon, but Bob wanted to bet a bottle of Scotch it would be a girl. It stood to reason it would be a girl.

He glanced at his watch. Mel should be finished the prenatal examination. When he dropped her off, in town, she had made him promise not to take a drink. He removed one glove, and popped two more mints in his mouth.

Bob moved the car up a notch climbing the hill. The back wheels spun. He eased off on the accelerator near the top. Women could not understand that a jolt or two wasn't drunkenness—it eased the tension in the belly. At the top, he had time to look at the beautiful white hills, the black trees standing like dead sentries, and the bridge far below. In an instant, Bob knew he was going a little too fast. Downhill was packed snow and glassy ice.

He tapped the brakes lightly. It was part of the better thinking he did with a few drinks. He thought how an intoxicated man would jam the brakes and spill into a ditch. Not Bob. He felt no panic.

The car started down, faster and faster. He was glad Mel wasn't with him. She'd scream. He'd be rattled. There was no use turning the steering wheel. The car would flip upside down. Other drivers, coming up, saw him. Some stopped.

They knew he couldn't make the sharp turn onto the bridge. So did he. His eyes missed nothing. No cars ahead; no crackup. If he could keep the front wheels straight, he'd hit the old wooden railing leading to the bridge. The car would bust through, fly into air, and settle in the river.

Bob was thinking all the way. He opened the door on his side and kept it open so that he couldn't be trapped inside. He figured it wasn't more than 40 feet of icy swimming to the shore. He'd make it.

His mind was racing with logic. Bob took dead aim on that wooden railing and, in the whistling wind, he could hear the screams of motorists as they watched the car crash through, arc in air, and plunge into the black river.

Bob got out and swam for shore. He made it. When he stepped on the hard mud he heard cheers. Then he staggered and fell sobbing. He remembered that little Mickey was in a basket on the back seat . . .

Ordinances Said Invalid

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown Municipal Judge Leo P. Morley Monday declared all of the city's criminal ordinances temporarily invalid because of the new state criminal code that became effective New Year's Day.

Judge Morley said the state's new definition of crimes as of Jan. 1, by implication repeals all of the cities' criminal ordinances.

The judge made the ruling at the same time he dismissed two criminal charges against a South Side man because of the conflict. The case was the first of the year involving city charges.

Morley said he advised the city council several times that it was necessary to recodify all city criminal ordinances to meet state standards.

The council has ordered city criminal ordinances compiled and has introduced them for first reading, but has not voted them into law.

Exclusionary Rule Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today narrowed the scope of a judicial device that allows suspects in criminal cases to suppress evidence that police have gathered illegally.

By a 6-3 vote, the court trimmed the controversial "exclusionary rule," a major source of complaints that criminals go free on technicalities.

The court held that prosecutors may summon witnesses before grand juries and demand that they answer questions based on evidence police have gathered in unlawful searches or seizures.

The decision dealt only with the grand jury question, apparently leaving intact the present effect of the rule when defendants reach trial.

The rule forbids use of evidence or fruits of evidence that have been gathered in violation of the Fourth Amendment prohibition against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Ashbrook Says Nixon Should Resign Office

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, said Monday President Nixon should resign because he couldn't recover from the effects of the Watergate scandal even if he "did everything right from here on out."

But the Johnstown conservative said he would not vote for impeachment because he doesn't think Nixon has been proven guilty of the "high crimes and misdemeanors" required by the Constitution for impeachment.

One More For The Road

By JIM BISHOP

The hills looked like vanilla cup cakes in the snow. The cars cut black scars and, where the road dropped steeply to the river, the old iron bridge looked like a child's Erector set. The town was on the far side, two church spires, some old-fashioned houses and a brace of traffic lights. Looking up through the fat lazy flakes, the sky seemed darker.

Dear Abby:

Daughter's Misery

DEAR ABBY: For 26 years I have been married to a man everybody thought was the perfect husband. No one knew the heartaches I suffered silently to keep my family together when my children were small.

Our daughter has been married for three years. She has one sweet baby and another on the way. Recently she confided that she has proof that her husband has been repeatedly unfaithful to her.

I have come very close to telling her that her father did me the same way. Would that be wrong? They say that misery loves company.

KANSAS CITY
DEAR KANSAS CITY: Yes, it would be wrong. If misery loves company, whose "misery" would you be attempting to provide with company: Your daughter's or your own?

DEAR ABBY: I once made the terrible mistake of sending away for some of those gummed back "name and address stickers," and I have been deluged ever since with catalogs and junk mail from a dozen different gift houses.

This junk mail clutters up my mailbox, and I don't want any of it. I never look at it, I just throw it out.

I wrote to one of these gift houses and asked them to please take my name off their mailing list, and after that I started getting TWO of everything!

I can't look my mailman in the face anymore. One day he had 22 pieces of junk mail for me. I apologized to him and explained that I didn't send for that stuff, but I know he didn't believe me. I even asked HIM how to get off their mailing lists, and he said he didn't know.

I have quit giving to charities that solicit by mail because for every one I

Bob ordered one more fast one. He was tall and skinny, a blond shoebrush on his skull, a soft boyish face about to harden into a man. He worried about his drinking because Ymelda worried. He wasn't an alcoholic. She said it affected his judgment. He said it improved his reflexes. It made him feel more at ease.

Ymelda's worry made Bob frown.

"Nervous Mel," he called her. He told her that women worry about things which never happen. He snapped the shotgun up, tilted his head, and pushed the chaser away.

Outside, he turned the fleecy collar of the windbreaker up. The car was old, but it was all his. He put his gloves on and sat behind the wheel and raced the engine. It had the quiet roar of authority.

He popped two mints from the glove compartment and chewed. Then he moved the car out onto the highway slowly, staring through the metronome of the wipers. He made the turns slowly, carefully.

Bob thought of his happiness. He never spoke of it, but inside he counted himself a lucky man. He had come out of Vietnam without a purple heart, a robot rotating on a military disk.

He had saved some pay and Ymelda had been waiting as though she had not left the front door since he kissed her goodbye. It was long ago, but not that long ago. Now he had Ymelda, a down payment on a little frame house, and an infant with little blond wisps of hair like his. Mickey was the first. There would be more.

Bob had a steady job in a scrap metal yard and he was pulling down $210 a week, not counting overtime. He had no desire to be rich. In fact, with Ymelda and little Mickey, he was rich. They owed nobody except the mortgage company.

There was another baby coming, but they told no one. Not even their folks. It was too soon, but Bob wanted to bet a bottle of Scotch it would be a girl. It stood to reason it would be a girl.

He glanced at his watch. Mel should be finished the prenatal examination. When he dropped her off, in town, she had made him promise not to take a drink. He removed one glove, and popped two more mints in his mouth.

Bob moved the car up a notch climbing the hill. The back wheels spun. He eased off on the accelerator near the top. Women could not understand that a jolt or two wasn't drunkenness—it eased the tension in the belly. At the top, he had time to look at the beautiful white hills, the black trees standing like dead sentries, and the bridge far below. In an instant, Bob knew he was going a little too fast. Downhill was packed snow and glassy ice.

He tapped the brakes lightly. It was part of the better thinking he did with a few drinks. He thought how an intoxicated man would jam the brakes and spill into a ditch. Not Bob. He felt no panic.

The car started down, faster and faster. He was glad Mel wasn't with him. She'd scream. He'd be rattled. There was no use turning the steering wheel. The car would flip upside down. Other drivers, coming up, saw him. Some stopped.

They knew he couldn't make the sharp turn onto the bridge. So did he. His eyes missed nothing. No cars ahead; no crackup. If he could keep the front wheels straight, he'd hit the old wooden railing leading to the bridge. The car would bust through, fly into air, and settle in the river.

Bob was thinking all the way. He opened the door on his side and kept it open so that he couldn't be trapped inside. He figured it wasn't more than 40 feet of icy swimming to the shore. He'd make it.

His mind was racing with logic. Bob took dead aim on that wooden railing and, in the whistling wind, he could hear the screams of motorists as they watched the car crash through, arc in air, and plunge into the black river.

Bob got out and swam for shore. He made it. When he stepped on the hard mud he heard cheers. Then he staggered and fell sobbing. He remembered that little Mickey was in a basket on the back seat . . .

give to, I get requests from 10 more.

Can't something be done about mail-order merchants who sell lists of names to other businesses?

ANTI JUNK MAIL.
DEAR ANTI: Other than requesting that your name be taken off the list, there is nothing you can do. I'm sorry for your mailman, but if those mail order houses want to spend money on catalogs that are never looked at, and postage to deliver them, it's their loss.

DEAR ABBY: You said that most male doctors do not get turned on by an attractive female patient. You're all wet! My ex-wife had a thing going with her doctor for a long time before I caught on. I didn't prosecute because I figured the poor guy had enough trouble being emotionally involved with my wife.

During the last five years I paid enough doctor bills to put another Cadillac in his garage.

Sweetie, you may know a lot about teen-agers, but you had better do a little more research on doctors.

BURNED ONCE
DEAR BURNED: There are exceptions in every profession, but most doctor-patient relationships are strictly professional and there is no fooling around. Too bad yours was a hummer.

British Coal Miners Hold To Demands

LONDON (AP) — The determination of British coal miners to hold out for their wage demands appears to be hardening despite Britain's growing economic crisis.

Some 3,000 miners walked off the job Monday at pits around the country, including 1,000 at five Leicestershire mines. The Leicestershire miners were protesting a union leader's suggestion that they end their eight-week ban on weekend work and overtime — which has reduced coal production more than 30 per cent — if the national interest is being damaged.

The 3,000 miners were only a tiny fraction of Britain's total of 280,000 miners. But a more serious threat was posed by the leaders of Scotland's miners, who voted unanimously to extend the ban on weekend work to three or four days a week. A meeting of the union executive Thursday will consider the proposal.

The Communist vice president of the miners' union, Michael McGahey, said: "There is something far wrong with a society that expects miners to work overtime in this most dangerous industry to survive. We will not be intimidated by any action of Ted Heath."

The miners are demanding wage increases in excess of the anti-inflation ceilings set by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government. The government contends that the nation is threatened with an electric power shortage because of the drop in coal production and on Jan. 1 put nonessential industries and businesses on a three-day work week to spread the power and keep essential services operating.

About 16 million of the nation's 25 million workers are employed in nonessential industries that have been put on the three-day week. So far, the short week has cut the pay of about 885,000 of these workers enough for them to qualify for unemployment compensation. Another 8 million are covered by guaranteed wages whether they work or not. But these guarantees are mostly for no more than a month, and the unemployed rolls are expected to balloon if the crisis continues.

MRS. MICHAEL L. HANKINS

Rihl-Hankins Wedding Held In Trinity Lutheran Church

The wedding of Miss Ruth Ann Rihl and Mr. Michael L. Hankins was an event of Dec. 1st. The Rev. Carl G. Zehner officiated at the double ring ceremony 2:30 p.m. which took place in Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville. The altar was adorned with vases of bronze and gold mums and a small matching arrangement was placed on the memorial piano.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rihl, 1050 Sunshine St., Circleville, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hankins Jr., Route 3, Circleville.

For her wedding, the bride selected a formal length gown of candlelight satin with long sleeves and a flounce of chantilly lace on the skirt topped by a bodice with an empire waistline. She carried a bouquet of bronze and orange mums, white daisies and fern. Chantilly lace formed a chapel length train caught to a satin covered headpiece with a veil of illusion flowing to her elbows.

Miss Shirley Rihl, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing an emerald green floor length gown with empire waistline, long sleeves and trim of candlelight lace. She carried a bouquet of mixed mums.

Mr. Lynn Dunkle served his friend as best man.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of orange crepe with long chiffon sleeves. The bridegroom's mother chose a street length dress of brown and pink print jersey. Corsages for the mothers were of bronze and gold mums.

Hostesses for the reception following the ceremony in the social rooms of the church were: Mrs. Randy Fitzpatrick, Miss Lissa Rihl and Miss Cindy Rihl, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. John Grubb. Large arrangements of mums and daisies flanked the three tiered cake centering a table covered with a gold cloth. Lighted tapers completed the decorations.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a street length dress with a candlelight empire bodice and burgundy self-belted skirt with matching dress length vest. The couple presently resides in Laurelville.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed by Motorist Insurance Companies of Columbus.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Teays Valley High School, is employed by the village of Laurelville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Washington C.H., New Holland, Mt. Sterling and Ashville.

Teacher Group Says Textbooks Discriminatory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus School Board has been urged to delay ordering Houghton Mifflin texts for fifth and six grades because a teacher's task force contends the books show sexual and racial discrimination.

The Columbus Education Association's task force on sexual discrimination issued the accusations against the Boston publishing company.

"Our research of the Houghton Mifflin reading books, grades 1-4, indicates the messages vary according to sex," wrote task force leader Patricia Teegardin.

"Boys are shown to be active—to build, to create things, and to use their minds. Girls are shown to be passive—to sit reading, watching, or taking directives from the boys. Boys show initiative, are brave and strong, Girls are weak, scared and crying."

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of orange crepe with long chiffon sleeves. The bridegroom's mother chose a street length dress of brown and pink print jersey. Corsages for the mothers were of bronze and gold mums.

Hostesses for the reception following the ceremony in the social rooms of the church were: Mrs. Randy Fitzpatrick, Miss Lissa Rihl and Miss Cindy Rihl, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. John Grubb. Large arrangements of mums and daisies flanked the three tiered cake centering a table covered with a gold cloth. Lighted tapers completed the decorations.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a street length dress with a candlelight empire bodice and burgundy self-belted skirt with matching dress length vest. The couple presently resides in Laurelville.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed by Motorist Insurance Companies of Columbus.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Teays Valley High School, is employed by the village of Laurelville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Washington C.H., New Holland, Mt. Sterling and Ashville.

Teacher Group Says Textbooks Discriminatory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus School Board has been urged to delay ordering Houghton Mifflin texts for fifth and six grades because a teacher's task force contends the books show sexual and racial discrimination.

The Columbus Education Association's task force on sexual discrimination issued the accusations against the Boston publishing company.

"Our research of the Houghton Mifflin reading books, grades 1-4, indicates the messages vary according to sex," wrote task force leader Patricia Teegarden.

"Boys are shown to be active—to build, to create things, and to use their minds. Girls are shown to be passive—to sit reading, watching, or taking directives from the boys. Boys show initiative, are brave and strong. Girls are weak, scared and crying."

Mottl Urges Speed On Lottery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newly named members of the Ohio Lottery Commission should be convinced they don't have to "move at a snail's pace" to get the lottery going, says Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma.

Mottl, the prime sponsor of the constitutional amendment that authorized the lottery, said the operation should have been under way by now. Each week that goes by, the state is losing about $1.5 million in revenue to neighboring states, he claims.

The Parma attorney said he has confidence in the five members named by Gov. John J. Gilligan to serve on the commission, but believes Gilligan told them "the last thing we want is a scandal."

Mottl said Ohio has the advantage of experience in other states which have lotteries in establishing one that is free of wrongdoing. "In New Hampshire, which has had a lottery since 1964, there hasn't been one breath of scandal," he said.

The senator said he is urging the commission, headed by David Leahy of Cleveland, to move promptly in screening applicants for executive director, selection of a city as state headquarters site, and retaining a consultant firm to collect information in the other states. "All these things should have been done in December," he asserted.

Mottl is helping lead a fight by Cleveland area business and civic groups to have Cleveland picked as the headquarters site. He noted Cuyahoga County supported the ballot proposal 5-1, "more than any other county," and predicted most of the lottery tickets will be sold in that area.

He also said Cleveland has a smaller per capita percentage of state employees of all major cities, and that its selection would be in line with "a need for decentralization of state government."

Mottl said he is urging Gilligan to recommend Cleveland to the commission and added: "The governor could not do anything that would help him more politically."

Gilligan noted that the lottery law gives the commission the authority to pick the site and said, in effect, that he intends to leave the choice up to the members.

President Again Revamping Domestic Policymaking Staff

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is planning another post-Watergate reorganization of his domestic policymaking apparatus, administration sources say.

The revamping was prompted by the installation of Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who has been promised a major role in domestic affairs, and the imminent resignation of presidential aide Melvin R. Laird.

A major aim of the new Nixon staff plan is to sort out and define the responsibilities of Ford, director Roy Ash of the Office of Management and Budget, and Kenneth Cole, executive director of the Domestic Council.

Laird was recruited by Nixon last June to serve a short-term appointment as chief domestic policy adviser, following the Watergate-related resignation April 30 of John D. Ehrlichman.

Sources said Ash discussed the new setup with White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. during a Saturday meeting here. Ash returned to Washington Sunday night without seeing Nixon.

One official said there was no significance in the fact that Ash and the President did not meet. He added that, from a public relations standpoint, it probably would have been better had Nixon taken the time to see the budget chief.

Another source said Kenneth W. Clawson, deputy director of communications for the executive branch, joined the presidential party here last week to discuss reorganization of the

Ask Exemption From Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newspaper industry has asked the Cost of Living Council to exempt it completely from government wage-price controls.

In a petition filed before the council last Friday, the American Newspaper Publisher's Association (ANPA) said total decontrol of the newspaper business is essential "merely to correct the impact of crushing economic inequities."

The ANPA said the industry is caught in an economic bind because of the escalating price of newsprint imported from Canada, postal rate increases and exempt competitors.

State EPA Seeks Plan Authority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Environmental Protection Agency wants to take over administration of a federal program requiring municipalities and industries to meet certain water quality standards by 1977.

The federal EPA has scheduled a public hearing for Jan. 30 in Cleveland on the proposed changeover, which state officials say would give the program a closer-to-home slant.

"When it comes to licensing, we know of the situations involved, where someone in Chicago might not," said John Evans of the Ohio EPA. "Then, with enforcement, we're closer to the problems involved, such as money."

State officials note the EPA was put in a difficult position when President Nixon ordered water quality money impounded. The federal agency can't admit there are municipalities without money for pollution control equipment, they said.

The federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 requires anyone discharging pollutants into a navigable waterway to meet federal water quality standards by 1977.

Athens Teacher Said Overpaid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A former teacher in the Athens City School District was overpaid $2,017.92 between 1969 and 1972, state Auditor Joseph Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said the former teacher, Sandra Kent, should be required to repay the school system that amount.

The auditor said, in addition, another former teacher, who was not named, and the system's student activity program, owe the Athens County district another $17.50.

Construction Plans Set By Oakwood Builders For 39 Homes Here

Construction is underway on the first eight houses in the new Nicholas Square subdivision located on Nicholas Drive in Circleville.

Oakwood Builders, 225 E. Broad Street in Columbus, announced plans for 39 homes, to have a total estimated value of $1.765 million, to be constructed in the subdivision during the next two years.

State Solon Had Probed Junction City

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)— State Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster says he began a personal investigation of the nearby Junction City Treatment Center six months before two mentally ill convicts took three women hostages Monday.

Maddux said area residents were dissatisfied with operation of the facility for felons with personality disturbances.

"I've toured the area two or three times," Maddux said. "The people in the community were upset with the direction the institution has been taking."

The convicts held the three employees at knifepoint for six hours, threatening to kill them unless given an unmarked car and allowed them to leave the facility.

The women were freed by the Ohio Highway Patrol and one of the inmates, 22-year-old Michael Woods of East Liverpool, was shot to death. Bernard Barbiaux, 22, of Cleveland, remained hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Maddux said he is going to reopen his investigation because of area residents' requests that security be tightened at the facility.

Power Problem Hits Mariner 10

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10, now 15 million miles from earth on its way to Venus and Mercury, has developed a power problem.

The craft has switched from its normal power system to its backup energy source, a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the two power systems are identical, both drawing most of their energy from the sun. If the second system fails, the $96-million mission will be over, he said.

Mariner 10, launched last Nov. 3, is scheduled to pass within 3,500 miles of Venus on Feb. 5 and 625 miles of Mercury March 29.

School Bus Accident Fatal To Girl, 13

CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) — A slip on ice Tuesday turned into a tragic accident for a teenaged Carlisle girl, who fell under a back wheel of a school bus she had just left.

Pamela Joy Cox, 13, died after being crushed as the bus pulled away, police said.

E. James Cahill, general manager for Oakwood, indicated that the first group of homes includes two 2-story models and a split level design in the price range of $43,500. to $48,000. The deluxe homes include four bedrooms, 2½ baths, carpeting, air conditioning, dishwasher, two-car attached garages and basements among their many features.

Exterior of the homes include a variety of designs including Colonial, Spanish, Contemporary and English Tudor styling utilizing brick, stucco and aluminum. The lots will be fully landscaped.

The Nicholas Square subdivision has concrete and blacktop streets plus city water and sewer service, and is adjacent to the Nicholas Drive Elementary School and the Circleville High School.

Sales of the new homes will be through Russell Dawley, real estate broker, with offices at 502 Nicholas Drive in Circleville. Completion of the first homes is planned for January, 1974.

Urge Vets Day Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus veteran of World War I made his point effectively Tuesday night while testifying on a bill to restore Veterans Day in Ohio to Nov. 11.

"It's our day. We have continued to observe it on Nov. 11. We can't march in parades anymore, so we march around in Veterans Hall," W. C. King, commander of Capital City Barracks 461, Veterans of World War I, USA, told the House State Government Committee.

King and spokesmen for various other veterans' groups urged the committee to change the holiday back to the actual date of the World War I Armistice.

Spokesmen included those who appeared on behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, and the Disabled American Veterans.

King said he spoke for about 8,000 Ohioans who are veterans of World War I who never could celebrate the armistice "any other day." The official observance has been the fourth Monday in October the last few years.

Crosby To Face Further Tests

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — Singer Bing Crosby is undergoing further tests to determine the exact nature of a lung ailment for which he was hospitalized on New Year's Eve.

The 69-year-old Crosby, admitted to Peninsula Hospital after complaining of chest and back pains, has thus far failed to respond to treatment for pneumonia, said Dr. Stanley Hanfling, a specialist in internal medicine.

Crosby was listed in satisfactory condition, but Hanfling said the singer suffered "a moderate amount of discomfort, controlled by medication."

The singer is expected to stay in the hospital another 7 to 10 days.

Construction Plans Set By Oakwood Builders For 39 Homes Here

Construction is underway on the first eight houses in the new Nicholas Square subdivision located on Nicholas Drive in Circleville.

Oakwood Builders, 225 E. Broad Street in Columbus, announced plans for 39 homes, to have a total estimated value of $1.765 million, to be constructed in the subdivision during the next two years.

State Solon Had Probed Junction City

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)— State Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster says he began a personal investigation of the nearby Junction City Treatment Center six months before two mentally ill convicts took three women hostages Monday.

Maddux said area residents were dissatisfied with operation of the facility for felons with personality disturbances.

"I've toured the area two or three times," Maddux said. "The people in the community were upset with the direction the institution has been taking."

The convicts held the three employees at knifepoint for six hours, threatening to kill them unless given an unmarked car and allowed them to leave the facility.

The women were freed by the Ohio Highway Patrol and one of the inmates, 22-year-old Michael Woods of East Liverpool, was shot to death. Bernard Barbiaux, 22, of Cleveland, remained hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Maddux said he is going to reopen his investigation because of area residents' requests that security be tightened at the facility.

Power Problem Hits Mariner 10

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10, now 15 million miles from earth on its way to Venus and Mercury, has developed a power problem.

The craft has switched from its normal power system to its backup energy source, a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the two power systems are identical, both drawing most of their energy from the sun. If the second system fails, the $96-million mission will be over, he said.

Mariner 10, launched last Nov. 3, is scheduled to pass within 3,500 miles of Venus on Feb. 5 and 625 miles of Mercury March 29.

School Bus Accident Fatal To Girl, 13

CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) — A slip on ice Tuesday turned into a tragic accident for a teenaged Carlisle girl, who fell under a back wheel of a school bus she had just left.

Pamela Joy Cox, 13, died after being crushed as the bus pulled away, police said.

E. James Cahill, general manager for Oakwood, indicated that the first group of homes includes two 2-story models and a split level design in the price range of $43,500. to $48,000. The deluxe homes include four bedrooms, 2½ baths, carpeting, air conditioning, dishwasher, two-car attached garages and basements among their many features.

Exterior of the homes include a variety of designs including Colonial, Spanish, Contemporary and English Tudor styling utilizing brick, stucco and aluminum. The lots will be fully landscaped.

The Nicholas Square subdivision has concrete and blacktop streets plus city water and sewer service, and is adjacent to the Nicholas Drive Elementary School and the Circleville High School.

Sales of the new homes will be through Russell Dawley, real estate broker, with offices at 502 Nicholas Drive in Circleville. Completion of the first homes is planned for January, 1974.

Urge Vets Day Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus veteran of World War I made his point effectively Tuesday night while testifying on a bill to restore Veterans Day in Ohio to Nov. 11.

"It's our day. We have continued to observe it on Nov. 11. We can't march in parades anymore, so we march around in Veterans Hall," W. C. King, commander of Capital City Barracks 461, Veterans of World War I, USA, told the House State Government Committee.

King and spokesmen for various other veterans' groups urged the committee to change the holiday back to the actual date of the World War I Armistice.

Spokesmen included those who appeared on behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, and the Disabled American Veterans.

King said he spoke for about 8,000 Ohioans who are veterans of World War I who never could celebrate the armistice "any other day." The official observance has been the fourth Monday in October the last few years.

Crosby To Face Further Tests

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — Singer Bing Crosby is undergoing further tests to determine the exact nature of a lung ailment for which he was hospitalized on New Year's Eve.

The 69-year-old Crosby, admitted to Peninsula Hospital after complaining of chest and back pains, has thus far failed to respond to treatment for pneumonia, said Dr. Stanley Hanfling, a specialist in internal medicine.

Crosby was listed in satisfactory condition, but Hanfling said the singer suffered "a moderate amount of discomfort, controlled by medication."

The singer is expected to stay in the hospital another 7 to 10 days.

Dr. Berkley To Speak At Chamber Banquet

Guest speaker for the annual meeting of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce Jan. 16, will be Dr. Dean F. Berkley. Dr. Berkley is with the School of Education of the Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. He is a native of South Dakota and was a teacher, coach and school administrator in that state before joining the faculty of Indiana University in 1957, where he is presently director of Division of Administration and Administrative Studies and a professor of school administration.

Final plans were completed for the annual meeting and banquet at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors Tuesday at noon. The annual meeting will be held at the 4-H and Grange building at the fairgrounds. The ticket committee reported that all the tickets have been sold but those still wishing to attend may advise the Chamber office where their names will be put on a list.

The board of directors will serve as hosts for the evening, assigning seats to guests and providing name tags. Several members of the board volunteered to meet on Tuesday to set up chairs and do last minute duties before the meeting.

Membership committee chairman announced to the board that ten new members have been accepted by the directors into the Chamber. Joining as new members in 1974 are Alkire's TV, Logan Monument, Youth Centre-Lamp Post, Appliance and Refrigeration, George Barnes, Ed Webb Bookkeeping, John Evans Realty, Circle D Recreation, Swift's Farm Center, and Producer's Buying Service.

A representative from Atlantic Portraits had sent the $35 membership fee to the Chamber office but Board action Tuesday refused his membership application due to unfavorable publicity. The office of the company is located in Columbus and the board members felt this was irregular.

The legislative committee will meet with State Senator Harry Armstrong and State Representative Myrl Shoemaker on Monday at Tink's Restaurant. The Retail Merchants will conduct their regular board meeting on Wednesday.

Results of the interest survey were presented to the board of directors. The survey was sent out to the 194 Chamber members to rate their ideas on six items of area betterment; nine categories of economic development; ten categories of public affairs and nine areas of urban development.

Only 44 of the 194 surveys sent out have been returned rating the items with priority for 1974, important in a long-range plan and of little importance. The majority of those who answered felt that hospital expansion was among the most important items for immediate priority. Also ranking high on the priority list were caution

Nancy Mace Competes For State Title

MISS NANCY MACE

Miss Nancy Mace will be representing District Seven at the Ohio Pork Producers Convention in Columbus Jan. 11-12 at the Scioto Inn. Miss Mace is the 1973 Pickaway County Pork Queen. She will represent Ross, Pickaway, Fairfield and Fayette Counties at the convention.

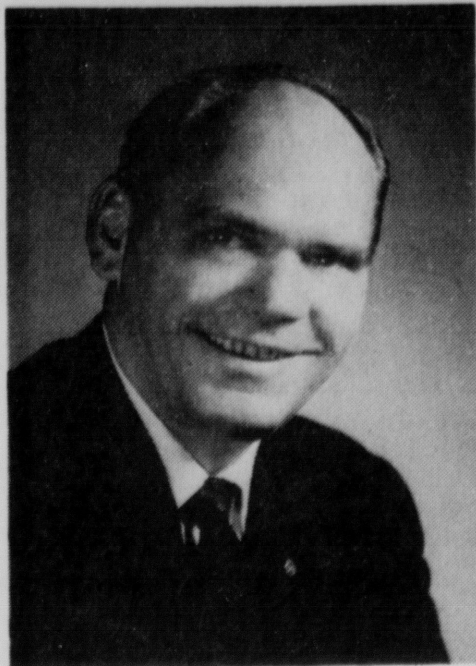

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mace, Route 2, Williamsport, Miss Mace will compete with other area queens for the state title, Ohio Pork Queen.

Nancy is a senior at Westfall High School and has learned many valuable things about pork since her crowning. She reminds us pork is now being used by leading diet programs and for heart patients when recommended by the physician.

Pork has been found to be low in cholesterol, fats and calories and high in protein and thiamine. Nearly 98 per cent of the pork you eat is digestible.

The queen's motto is "To keep healthy, eat pork but don't make a pig of yourself."

Regular Antitrust Sweeps Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turning away from a scattergun approach, government trustbusters now plan regular searches for possible antitrust violations by the nation's major industries.

The new practice could lead to more government lawsuits challenging the structure of entire industries, said Assistant Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Kauper, head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

In an interview Tuesday, Kauper also said he sees no acceptable way to shield the division from political pressure and he defended President Nixon's intervention in the ITT case.

He said government lawyers are "taking quite a hard look" at powerful agriculture cooperatives.

And he said he has found little evidence that major oil companies conspired to create a fuel shortage in order to drive up prices and profits.

As for the division's overall approach, Kauper said, "We do need to have a much more systematic notion of what we're doing industry by industry.... You need a little more of a strategy and perhaps a little less of simply responding to complaints."

In the past, he said, the practice often has been to "bring a case here, bring a case there" without a clear goal and a thorough analysis of the economic impact.

To reverse the direction, the division was reorganized recently to stress economic planning. The new approach may have a strong impact on concentrated industries where a handful of companies dominate the market, he said.

Kauper said the new approach

The Pickaway County Democratic Executive Committee recommended William A. Stout for reappointment as a Democrat member of the Board of Elections during the meeting at Pickaway Arms.

means antitrust lawyers will conduct "a regularized review of pricing and profits" in an industry, minimizing the number of investigations carried out in response to complaints, imminent mergers and allegations of conspiracy.

As for political pressure, Kauper said he sees no acceptable shield against allegations of improper influence such as the current charges involving the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and the dairy cooperatives.

In the ITT case, Nixon insisted in a statement Tuesday that he was only concerned with broad antitrust policy when he ordered the Justice Department not to appeal a suit challenging an ITT merger to the Supreme Court. A pledge of political contributions by an ITT subsidiary had no bearing on his actions, Nixon said.

Kauper, who became antitrust chief in mid-1972 after the ITT cases were settled, was asked if he thought it proper for Nixon to order the case dropped.

"That is not an altogether easy question to answer," he said. "Yes, it seems to me that the President of the United States does have the authority to say 'this is a particular matter, that as a policy judgment, I think you are wrong on.' Assuming that the concern is with the policy that is being developed as an administration policy, that is within his prerogative."

But if Nixon was motivated by politics rather than policy, "then you've got a problem, sure," Kauper added.

Youthful Burglar Ignores Ill Woman

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An 83-year-old woman told police Monday that a youth ransacked her home as she lay stricken in a hallway from a stroke suffered nearly 24 hours early. She suffered the stroke Friday night and was on the floor when the youth broke in Saturday afternoon. She was discovered Saturday night and was reported in fair condition Monday, police said.

Some Helpful Hints On Ice Fishing

By JIM DAUBEL
Written For
The Associated Press

Two's company and three's a crowd may hold true in summer angling but not when ice covers your favorite fishing hole.

That's why finding fish, the chief headache in warm weather fishing, is immeasurably easier in winter.

Just look for a concentration of other fishermen and cut a hole in the ice near them.

Ice fishermen rarely mind company. Gab sessions speed time when fish are scarce and a multitude of baited lines helps hold a school when fishing is hot.

When you're on your own, locating fish can be more tedious and great caution should be exercised in testing new ice.

Two inches of ice will support one man on foot; three inches, a group of people in single file, and 7½ inches, a two-ton car or truck, according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

Beware of springs in lakes or the current under river ice. They can create thin spots, some of which appear as dark patches on the surface.

If you know the lake, fish the same grass beds, drop-offs and submerged cover that yield fish in the summer.

Fish are partial to the same habitat year-round. Also as in summer, many species travel in schools under ice, often following shoreline contours.

In trying to locate fish, therefore, it pays to cut holes in a straight line at right angles to the shore. If you catch fish through one hole, cut others in a cluster around it and concentrate your efforts in that area.

For larger species like pike and walleyes, use 10-pound monofilament. Chubs or large minnows are excellent bait.

Two or four-pound mono is preferred for panfish. Emerald shiners are deadly on perch, white bas, crappies and bluegills. Waxworms, grubs and even fish eyes also are productive baits.

Once fish start hitting live bait, a small ice fly tipped with a maggot and twitched just off the bottom can stir fast action.

In Ohio, one person may use a maximum of six tip-ups, a spring-loaded fishing device from which a baited line is lowered through a hole in the ice. A biting fish triggers a flag which alerts the fisherman, who sets the hook and handles the fish to the surface.

Ice fishing can be a cold and lonesome sport. But the excitement of a half-dozen tip-ups signaling together or the struggle of a big fish on a stubby rod overshadows the waiting.

And a meal of firm winter-caught fish makes it all worthwhile.

Knicks Rip Chicago Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks came to Chicago prepared for just about anything—anything, that is except the easy 108-80 victory they posted over the Bulls Tuesday night.

The Bulls had beaten New York 85-69 and 115-97 in two previous meetings.

"The last time we were here, the Bulls just blew us off the court," recalled New York Coach Red Holzman, whose club has always had trouble beating the Bulls, especially in Chicago.

Thus it was no great surprise when Chicago jumped out to an early 12-6 lead in the National Basketball Association game. But what happened afterwards was quite surprising.

In one stretch, New York outscored Chicago 19-2. The Bulls managed just 16 points in the first quarter, and followed that up with another 16-point quarter as the Knicks took a 58-32 halftime lead. The Bulls never caught up.

"We lost the game after we grabbed that 12-6 lead," Bulls Coach Dick Motta. "We had three straight Turnovers, and by my standards we should have been ahead 20-6 and it would have been all over."

In other NBA games, the Buffalo Braves beat the Atlanta Hawks 100-96, the Capital Bullets nipped the Los Angeles Lakers 94-92, the Golden State Warriors defeated the Houston Rockets 104-92 and the Portland Trail Blazers topped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 129-110.

In Tuesday night's only American Basketball Association game, the New York Nets beat the Virginia Squires 109-101.

Mid-Winter Baseball Draft Held Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The Texas Rangers draw first when baseball's annual mid-winter free agent draft gets underway today and the American League club is expected to select Roy Smalley Jr., son of the former Chicago Cubs' shortstop.

Smalley, of the University of Southern California, is also the nephew of Montreal Expos' Manager Gene Mauch.

that group today.

Despite Finley's success with the Oakland team, it has caused him some headaches. The latest was the tiff with his manager, Dick Williams, who wanted to move to the Yankees even though his contract with Finley still had two years to run.

Williams was denied release from his contract, and the Tribune said he apparently has decided to sit out the next two seasons.

LE Coach Credits Defense With 80-49 Win Over Aces

Mountain Landis ruled baseball from 1921-1945.

And in the middle is Delmar Stadium, Houston's high school football field and facilities where the Vikings are preparing for Sunday's NFL title game against the Miami Dolphins, American Conference Champions and defenders of the Super Bowl crown.

LE Coach Credits Defense With 80-49 Win Over Aces

Rozelle and the rest of the NFL heirarchy say Delmar is more than adequate for the Vikings' needs. Grant doesn't.

On Monday, Grant called the facilities "shabby" and unworthy of a "junior high school team."

Rozelle didn't take too kindly to that. At least, that's what Grant presumed on Tuesday when he surprised a news conference with the fact that he'd been reprimanded for his comments and advised that more of the same might result in a fine.

LE Coach Credits Defense With 80-49 Win Over Aces

"The commissioner took a dim view of my observations," Grant said. Did Rozelle's response suggest that further comments should be tempered? "I took it as a threat," Grant replied coolly.

League by-laws prohibit a coach or player from criticizing another team or the league. Jim Kensil, Rozelle's chief aide, said Grant's comments conflicted with the NFL constitution.

"We were disappointed to hear about it publicly, not from the organization," said Kensil. "The first thing we consider is the field, the second the training room and the third the dressing room."

Grant was satisfied with the field, but called the rest of the accommodations poor, noting there were no lockers and only one coaches' table. And its location didn't help matters.

"We have to bus 20 minutes to and from the field while the Dolphins (using the Houston Oilers' facilities) can hold a squad meeting in their hotel and walk across the street to practice. It gives Miami an advantage," Grant insisted.

Don Shula, who is taking his Dolphins into their third straight Super Bowl, got a kick out of the brouhaha. "I think this has given the Vikings a competitive edge," he said, failing to suppress a grin. "They're angry. We're in trouble unless we can get the league to do something to get us teed off, too."

Tommy Prothro Heads Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tommy Prothro, for 16 years one of the nation's most successful college football coaches, is getting a second chance at a National Football League job.

And this time, he says, he's picked his spot with more care.

"I always had a motto in the business: never follow a man who has led a team out of the woods," the white-haired Prothro drawled Tuesday at a news conference announcing his appointment to coach the San Diego Chargers.

"That's why I hesitated at taking the Ram job. They contacted me four times before I talked to them because I didn't want to follow George Allen."

Prothro, 53, signed a multiyear contract of undisclosed duration for a salary reported to be about $100,000 a year. He replaces interim Coach Ron Waller, who succeeded Harland Svare after eight games of the Chargers' worst season, 2-11-1.

For Svare, the misery of the season was made worse by a sometimes brutal fan reaction. After the first few

Kentucky Wesleyan On Top Of Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Wesleyan, despite a humiliating 103-79 loss to Evansville last week, has retained first place in the weekly Associated Press college division basketball poll.

The victory, meanwhile, moved Evansville, previously ranked No. 5, into third in the poll. Kentucky Wesleyan now is 7-1 on the season, and Evansville is 6-3.

Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes in balloting by sports-writers and broadcasters across the nation for 572 points, and Evansville, which got seven first-place votes, polled 511 votes.

Alcorn A&M was in second place again, holding a narrow eight-vote margin over Evansville. Alcorn, which also had seven first-place votes, pushed its record to 10-1 with a convincing 130-93 victory last week over Arkansas-Pine Bluff.

Tennessee State, 5-2, made way for the climbing Evansville team by slipping from third to fourth in the poll with 400 points and two first-place votes, and Old Dominion, 6-2, moved up from No. 6 to fifth by polling 344 votes, including one for first place.

UT-Chattanooga, 7-0, jumped from 10th last week to sixth this week and drew five first place votes for a 308-vote total, while Bentley, 8-0, which had been ranked ninth, moved up to seventh with one first-place vote and 295 points.

Augustana, 9-1, slipped from seventh to No. 8 with 275 votes, and Sam Houston State, 8-1, fell from No. 8 to No. 9 with 244 votes. Meanwhile, Wittenberg, 7-1, climbed from 12th to 10th and drew 189 votes after a 93-66 victory over Baldwin-Wallace.

Three new-comers to the poll were No. 12 Southeast Louisiana, 5-2, No. 14 Fairmont State, 9-0 after last week's 85-74 victory over previously 11th-ranked Kentucky State, and No. 15 Morgan State, 10-1.

No. 11 Midwestern, which got one first-place vote, moved up from 15th,

Oakland A's Up For Sale

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles O. Finley has put the Oakland Athletics up for sale, the Chicago Tribune reported today.

The price, the newspaper said, is $15 million.

Finley told the Tribune in an interview that he finally has acquiesced to the urgings of his doctors.

"My doctor has told me to get out of all sports for physical reasons," Finley said.

He said he is open to bids from "responsible parties" to purchase the American League baseball club which he moved from Kansas City to Oakland in 1969. The team has given him two World Series championships in a row.

Finley told the Tribune he plans to sell his hockey team (the California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League) and his basketball team (the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association) for health reasons, too. He declined to put a price on either team.

He said the National Hockey League is "making arrangements" to purchase his California Golden Seals.

Finley said he has no particular persons in mind who might buy the A's, but that the Marjorie Everett-Vern Underwood syndicate, which is currently seeking to buy the San Diego Padres, is interested. He said he expects to speak with a representative of that group today.

Despite Finley's success with the Oakland team, it has caused him some headaches. The latest was the tiff with his manager, Dick Williams, who wanted to move to the Yankees even though his contract with Finley still had two years to run.

Williams was denied release from his contract, and the Tribune said he apparently has decided to sit out the next two seasons.

Super Bowl Clash Starts Early

HOUSTON (AP) — The big fist fight still is four days away, but the National Football League already has a nice little scuffle in full swing — and the main combatants don't even wear uniforms.

On one side is Bud Grant, the ramrod straight coach of the Minnesota Vikings, the National Conference's entry in the real bloodletting, more commonly known as Super Bowl VIII.

On the other side stands Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the league and probably the most powerful head of a major pro sport since Kenesaw

Mountain Landis ruled baseball from 1921-1945.

And in the middle is Delmar Stadium, Houston's high school football field and facilities where the Vikings are preparing for Sunday's NFL title game against the Miami Dolphins, American Conference Champions and defenders of the Super Bowl crown.

LE Coach Credits Defense With 80-49 Win Over Aces

"Our defense in the second and third quarters was the difference," Logan Elm coach Dave Little said of the Braves' 80-49 win over Amanda-Clearcreek in the Mid State League.

It was a close game in the first period with the Aces playing well. They led the visiting Logan Elm cage team until just before the quarter ended when the Braves went ahead, 20-18.

The score at halftime was 33-24. The second half belonged to the Braves as they rolled to a 58-34 third quarter lead and outscored the hosts 22-15 in the final frame.

The win gives Logan Elm a 3-3 record in the Mid State and a 6-4 overall mark. Amanda-Clearcreek is winless.

In other Mid State action Tuesday, the leaders kept their league records unblemished. Millersport downed Bloom Carroll, 64-56, and Canal Winchester beat Fairfield Union, 84-73. Pickerington edged Fisher, 60-51 and Liberty Union defeated Berne Union, 56-50.

Canal Winchester and Millersport are both unbeaten in the league and both have been beaten one time outside the league.

In last night's tilt at Amanda-Clearcreek, all 11 LE players who got into the game scored, four of them in double figures. Scott Pontius hooped 15, Terry Crumley and Mike Miller 12 each and Matt Martin 10. Rounding out the scoring, Mitch Martin and Phil Manson scored seven each, Scott Bower six, George Baughman four, Brian Barr three and Don Bethel and Derek Morris two each.

Some Helpful Hints On Ice Fishing

By JIM DAUBEL
Written For
The Associated Press

Two's company and three's a crowd may hold true in summer angling but not when ice covers your favorite fishing hole.

That's why finding fish, the chief headache in warm weather fishing, is immeasurably easier in winter.

Just look for a concentration of other fishermen and cut a hole in the ice near them.

Ice fishermen rarely mind company. Gab sessions speed time when fish are scarce and a multitude of baited lines helps hold a school when fishing is hot.

When you're on your own, locating fish can be more tedious and great caution should be exercised in testing new ice.

Two inches of ice will support one man on foot; three inches, a group of people in single file, and 7½ inches, a two-ton car or truck, according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

Beware of springs in lakes or the current under river ice. They can create thin spots, some of which appear as dark patches on the surface.

If you know the lake, fish the same grass beds, drop-offs and submerged cover that yield fish in the summer.

Fish are partial to the same habitat year-round. Also as in summer, many species travel in schools under ice, often following shoreline contours.

In trying to locate fish, therefore, it pays to cut holes in a straight line at right angles to the shore. If you catch fish through one hole, cut others in a cluster around it and concentrate your efforts in that area.

For larger species like pike and walleyes, use 10-pound monofilament. Chubs or large minnows are excellent bait.

Two or four-pound mono is preferred for panfish. Emerald shiners are deadly on perch, white bass, crappies and bluegills. Waxworms, grubs and even fish eyes also are productive baits.

Once fish start hitting live bait, a small ice fly tipped with a maggot and twitched just off the bottom can stir fast action.

In Ohio, one person may use a maximum of six tip-ups, a spring-loaded fishing device from which a baited line is lowered through a hole in the ice. A biting fish triggers a flag which alerts the fisherman, who sets the hook and handles the fish to the surface.

Ice fishing can be a cold and lonesome sport. But the excitement of a half-dozen tip-ups signaling together or the struggle of a big fish on a stubby rod overshadows the waiting.

And a meal of firm winter-caught fish makes it all worthwhile.

Mitch Martin was the leading rebounder with eight while Pontius and Miller pulled down seven each. The Braves had a total of 43 rebounds in the game.

For the losers, Doug Starner tallied 13 points, Cloyce Hartley 10, Jim Posey nine, Tom Hinton six, Jim Smith five, Mark Marshall two, Rod Martin one and Russ Foster three.

The Logan Elm reserve team improved their record to nine wins and one loss with a 50-40 victory over the little Aces. Jeff Reichelderfer led the win with 21 points.

Friday the Braves host league-leading Millersport.

Knicks Rip Chicago Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks came to Chicago prepared for just about anything — anything, that is except the easy 108-80 victory they posted over the Bulls Tuesday night.

The Bulls had beaten New York 85-69 and 115-97 in two previous meetings.

"The last time we were here, the Bulls just blew us off the court," recalled New York Coach Red Holzman, whose club has always had trouble beating the Bulls, especially in Chicago.

Thus it was no great surprise when Chicago jumped out to an early 12-6 lead in the National Basketball Association game. But what happened afterwards was quite surprising.

In one stretch, New York outscored Chicago 19-2. The Bulls managed just 16 points in the first quarter, and followed that up with another 16-point quarter as the Knicks took a 58-32 halftime lead. The Bulls never caught up.

"We lost the game after we grabbed that 12-6 lead," Bulls Coach Dick Motta. "We had three straight Turnovers, and by my standards we should have been ahead 20-6 and it would have been all over."

In other NBA games, the Buffalo Braves beat the Atlanta Hawks 100-96, the Capital Bullets nipped the Los Angeles Lakers 94-92, the Golden State Warriors defeated the Houston Rockets 104-92 and the Portland Trail Blazers topped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 129-110.

In Tuesday night's only American Basketball Association game, the New York Nets beat the Virginia Squires 109-101.

Smalley, of the University of Southern California, is also the nephew of Montreal Expos' Manager Gene Mach.

Tommy Prothro Heads Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tommy Prothro, for 16 years one of the nation's most successful college football coaches, is getting a second chance at a National Football League job.

And this time, he says, he's picked his spot with more care.

"I always had a motto in the business: never follow a man who has led a team out of the woods," the white-haired Prothro drawled Tuesday at a news conference announcing his appointment to coach the San Diego Chargers.

"That's why I hesitated at taking the Ram job. They contacted me four times before I talked to them because I didn't want to follow George Allen."

Prothro, 53, signed a multiyear contract of undisclosed duration for a salary reported to be about $100,000 a year. He replaces interim Coach Ron Waller, who succeeded Harland Svare after eight games of the Chargers' worst season, 2-11-1.

For Svare, the misery of the season was made worse by a sometimes brutal fan reaction. After the first few home games, spectators were waving banners, throwing wads of paper, and chanting in demand of Svare's removal. He resigned Nov. 5 And became general manager, the post he held before replacing Coach Sid Gillman in late 1971.

Owner Eugene Klein, who said he picked Prothro from among 15 candidates, pleaded for patience from the fans.

"It's going to take some time," Klein said. "I ask you gentlemen and the fans to be fair to Tommy. I think if Tommy is given a fair shot in this job this will be the last coach who will have to be hired here for a long, long time."

Prothro revitalized football programs at Oregon State and UCLA, compiling a record of 104-55-5 from 1955 to 1971, when he signed a five-year contract to coach the Los Angeles Rams.

He lasted only two years, posting records of 8-5-1 and 6-7-1, before being fired by new owner Carroll Rosenbloom. He later accepted a settlement for the remaining years of his contract.

Kentucky Wesleyan On Top Of Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Wesleyan, despite a humiliating 103-79 loss to Evansville last week, has retained first place in the weekly Associated Press college division basketball poll.

The victory, meanwhile, moved Evansville, previously ranked No. 5, into third in the poll. Kentucky Wesleyan now is 7-1 on the season, and Evansville is 6-3.

Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes in balloting by sports-writers and broadcasters across the nation for 572 points, and Evansville, which got seven first-place votes, polled 511 votes.

Alcorn A&M was in second place again, holding a narrow eight-vote margin over Evansville. Alcorn, which also had seven first-place votes, pushed its record to 10-1 with a convincing 130-93 victory last week over Arkansas-Pine Bluff.

Tennessee State, 5-2, made way for the climbing Evansville team by slipping from third to fourth in the poll with 400 points and two first-place votes, and Old Dominion, 6-2, moved up from No. 6 to fifth by polling 344 votes, including one for first place.

UT-Chattanooga, 7-0, jumped from 10th last week to sixth this week and drew five first place votes for a 308-vote total, while Bentley, 8-0, which had been ranked ninth, moved up to seventh with one first-place vote and 295 points.

Augustana, 9-1, slipped from seventh to No. 8 with 275 votes, and Sam Houston State, 8-1, fell from No. 8 to No. 9 with 244 votes. Meanwhile, Wittenberg, 7-1, climbed from 12th to 10th and drew 189 votes after a 93-66 victory over Baldwin-Wallace.

Three new-comers to the poll were No. 12 Southeast Louisiana, 5-2, No. 14 Fairmont State, 9-0 after last week's 85-74 victory over previously 11th-ranked Kentucky State, and No. 15 Morgan State, 10-1.

No. 11 Midwestern, which got one first-place vote, moved up from 15th.

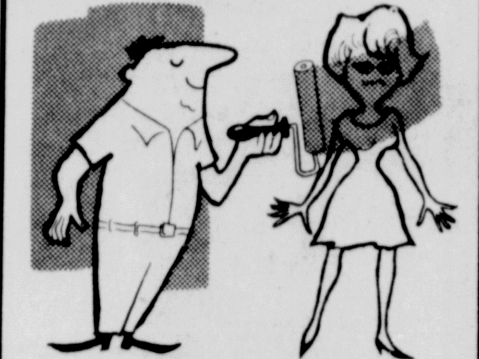

and Roanoke, 8-4, jumped from 14th to 13th to round out the top 15.

Other teams receiving first-place votes were Edinboro State, Oregon Tech, Maryland-East Shore, and St. Thomas.

Decline Of 23,000 Farms Reported By Ag Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says there were 2,281,000 farms in the United States as of Jan. 1, a decline of about 23,000, or one per cent, from a year ago.

Compared with a decade ago, the farm inventory has shrunk about 20 per cent, from 3,572,000 shown in 1963.

The trend, however, has been going on since 1935, when there were more than 6.8 million.

The Jan. 1 inventory, a preliminary estimate, was published by the department's Statistical Reporting Service. It also showed that the land in farms totaled 1,086,937,000 acres, down nearly 2.6 million acres from a year earlier.

Farm land disappears annually as cities expand, highways are built, airports enlarged, recreation grounds established and other uses made of the countryside.

"With farm numbers declining more rapidly than total land in farms, the average size of farms continues upward," the report said. "The average size for 1973 was 383 acres, compared with 381 in 1972 and 322 a decade ago. The preliminary estimate for 1974 is 385 acres."

The average, however, is only statistical since the figures include all types, whether 10-acre vegetable farms or ranch units having thousands of acres.

Texas, the historical leader, was reported to have 209,000 farms and 141.8 million acres included in them as of Jan. 1, unchanged from a year earlier.

Other top states, in farm numbers, included: Missouri 139,000 farms, unchanged from Jan. 1, 1973; Iowa 137,000, down 2,000; North Carolina 135,000, down 2,000; and Kentucky and Illinois each with 126,000 farms, unchanged and down 1,000 respectively.

Gold Stocks Are Bright Spot Otherwise Dark Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street has become the scene of a modern-day version of the California gold rush. While countless other stocks have dropped dramatically in value over the past year, shares of gold mining companies have shone as brightly as the precious metal itself.

The gold fever, which has pushed up the price of some gold stocks by as much as 400 per cent or more since early 1973, has intensified in the past few days as the price of gold has soared in European trading centers.

On Tuesday, the stocks of nearly all major gold companies were delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange as buy orders flooded the market.

For example, trading in Homestake

Mining, the largest U.S. gold producer, did not open until 10:29 a.m., nearly a half hour after the exchange began its daily session. It closed at $93.38 a share, up $1 from Tuesday's close, an increase of some 406 per cent from its low early last year of $23.

Similarly, Dome Mines, a large Canadian producer, rose $3.75 to $184.75. It sold early in 1973 for as little as $68.

Campbell Red Lake, another Canadian mining concern which traded as low as $35 last year, reached $95 by Tuesday's close.

These rapid advances have come over the same period that the Dow Jones industrial average, a barometer of activity in the stock market as a whole, has fallen some 190 points from its January 1973 record closing high — an 18 per cent drop.

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 9, 1974

Gold stocks have traditionally been regarded on Wall Street as risky speculations. They have often had their greatest appeal in unsettled economic times, and analysts say the current run on them is founded in recent world monetary turmoil and the financial uncertainties posed by energy problems.

Alan C. Poole, analyst at Laidlaw-Coggeshall & Co., said "There's a great deal of fear because of the energy crisis. Many investors foresee a recession and this is the only thing they have to grab on to. Here's a commodity that's always survived bad times."

Gold Stocks Are Bright Spot Otherwise Dark Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street has become the scene of a modern-day version of the California gold rush. While countless other stocks have dropped dramatically in value over the past year, shares of gold mining companies have shone as brightly as the precious metal itself. The gold fever, which has pushed up the price of some gold stocks by as much as 400 per cent or more since early 1973, has intensified in the past few days as the price of gold has soared in European trading centers. On Tuesday, the stocks of nearly all major gold companies were delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange as buy orders flooded the market. For example, trading in Homestake Mining, the largest U.S. gold producer, did not open until 10:29 a.m., nearly a half hour after the exchange began its daily session. It closed at $93.38 a share, up $1 from Tuesday's close, an increase of some 406 per cent from its low early last year of $23. Similarly, Dome Mines, a large Canadian producer, rose $3.75 to $184.75. It sold early in 1973 for as little as $68. Campbell Red Lake, another Canadian mining concern which traded as low as $35 last year, reached $95 by Tuesday's close. These rapid advances have come over the same period that the Dow Jones industrial average, a barometer of activity in the stock market as a whole, has fallen some 190 points from its January 1973 record closing high — an 18 per cent drop. Gold stocks have traditionally been regarded on Wall Street as risky speculations. They have often had their greatest appeal in unsettled economic times, and analysts say the current run on them is founded in recent world monetary turmoil and the financial uncertainties posed by energy problems. Alan C. Poole, analyst at Laidlaw-Coggeshall & Co., said "There's a great deal of fear because of the energy crisis. Many investors foresee a recession and this is the only thing they have to grab on to. Here's a commodity that's always survived bad times."

Advantages Of Time Change Explained By Federal Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight Saving Time will save energy even if people turn on as many lights to brush their teeth in the morning as they did to down their martinis at night, says a government scientist.

It also could provide bonus benefits by giving people a better chance to safely reach their home after work, says Dr. Douglas Bauer.

Bauer, deputy assistant director of research for the Office of Energy Conservation, says daylight time could cut the nation's demand for heat and

Why Not Brown, Asks Metzenbaum

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, questioned Tuesday why U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Urbana, was not chosen as the Republican Party's choice for the U.S. senatorial race.

Metzenbaum called Brown "as formidable a candidate as Republicans could have chosen for this year's senatorial race."

The nation's newest Senator said he felt the surname Brown would have proved a great advantage for Republicans over Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk in terms of statewide voter recognition.

Republican representatives from the state's 14 large Ohio counties agreed Tuesday to support Perk's candidacy.

"I have great respect for him (Brown) even though we disagree politically," Metzenbaum said. He was in Springfield as part of his statewide tour to get to know his constituents.

Last week, Metzenbaum was endorsed by the Ohio Democratic party's executive committee as their candidate for the U.S. Senate. He was sworn in less than a week ago to fill the seat vacated by Republican William Saxbe, the nation's new attorney general.

Sun, Earth Under Study By Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With comet Kohoutek fading rapidly, Skylab 3's astronauts are focusing scientific research on the sun and earth.

Surveys of both were on the flight plan today as Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson soared through the 55th day of their marathon 84-day mission.

For several weeks as Kohoutek streaked toward and around the sun and then headed back toward deep space, the astronauts concentrated their telescopes, cameras and other instruments on the comet.

Although Kohoutek did not live up to advance billing as a space dazzler, the astronauts reported spectacular views from their ringside seat above earth's distorting atmosphere.

The comet now appears to them as a dim star, and they have halted telescope coverage, returning these powerful photographic instruments to fulltime observation of the sun.

But Flight Director Phil Shaffer said the spacemen will continue until Jan. 15 to spend some time each day photographing Kohoutek through other instruments.

After several weeks with only a few earth resources passes, Carr, Pogue and Gibson this week began daily survey runs.

Dr. Horst Keller, an astronomer who helped plan Skylab observation of the comet, said for the next few days earth viewers should be able to see Kohoutek if they look in a southwest direction about an hour after sunset.

Using binoculars, they should be able to spot it as a fuzzy star low on the horizon near Venus, brightest object in the skies next to the moon.

Sisco Gets No. 3 Job With Agency

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Middle East authority Joseph S. Sisco will be nominated to succeed William J. Porter as undersecretary of state for political affairs, the western White House has announced.

Porter will be nominated as ambassador to Canada, a presidential spokesman said.

Sisco, a career foreign service officer, had announced plans of leaving the State Department to accept the presidency of Hamilton College in New York. But spokesmen said President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger persuaded him to change his mind and remain in the diplomatic corps.

As undersecretary for political affairs, Sisco will hold the No. 3 job in the department. Sisco has been assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs since 1969 and is considered one of the department's top authorities on the Middle East.

In Ottawa, Porter will succeed Adolph W. Schmidt, whose resignation was accepted with regret by President Nixon.

In another announcement, the White House disclosed Nixon's selection of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., as permanent U.S. representative to the Organization of American States (OAS) with rank of ambassador.

Mailliard is ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. As envoy to the OAS, he will succeed Joseph John Jova, who has been named ambassador to Mexico.

Israeli Proposals Not Complete

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israeli government says it has not completed the proposal for disengagement of Israeli and Egyptian forces on the Suez front which it will submit at the Geneva negotiations.

"No decisions have as yet been taken regarding the next phase of the issues discussed by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan during his visit to Washington," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

Dayan said last week after his talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that the Israeli cabinet could go ahead with formation of concrete proposals. Several newspapers reported that Israel would offer to pull its forces back 18 miles from the Suez Canal if Egypt agreed to reduce substantially its troops and arms on the east side of the waterway.

The Foreign Ministry spokesman called the press reports "purely speculative" and said all matters relating to troop disengagement were still under discussion in the cabinet and through diplomatic channels.

The Israeli government also denied a Syrian claim that 25 Israeli soldiers were killed in an artillery and tank battle on the Golan Heights Tuesday. Israel said the Syrians opened fire, there was a seven-hour exchange of artillery and tank fire, and seven Israelis were wounded.

An Israeli communique also charged Egyptian forces with small-arms and mortar fire along the Suez Canal, but reported no Israeli casualties.

Arab diplomats in Beirut reported that Egypt, Syria and Jordan will hold a summit conference in Damascus to coordinate strategy for the second phase of the Middle East peace talks opening in Geneva late this month.

One informant said King Hussein of Jordan would urge Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria to form a single delegation representing Jordan, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and the Palestinians. Syria, Lebanon and the Palestinians have not joined the Geneva talks, and Egypt and Jordan have separate delegations. Hussein wants a unified delegation because he is afraid Israel might tempt Egypt with territorial concessions, and Cairo would make a separate peace without insisting on the return of Jordanian territory seized by Israel in the 1967 war.

The diplomats in Beirut also reported that Kissinger plans another swing around the Middle East before the end of the month. But in Washington, State Department officials say no such trip is in the works yet.

Lagging Car Sales Cause Layoffs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lagging car sales have caused the layoff of nearly 1,300 workers at four General Motors Corp. plants here.

The company said 700 workers were furloughed at its Frigidaire plant, 370 at the Inland plant, 115 at the Delco Moraine plant and 100 at the Delco products plant.

As undersecretary for political affairs, Sisco will hold the No. 3 job in the department. Sisco has been assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs since 1969 and is considered one of the department's top authorities on the Middle East.

In Ottawa, Porter will succeed Adolph W. Schmidt, whose resignation was accepted with regret by President Nixon.

In another announcement, the White House disclosed Nixon's selection of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., as permanent U.S. representative to the Organization of American States (OAS) with rank of ambassador.

Mailliard is ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. As envoy to the OAS, he will succeed Joseph John Jova, who has been named ambassador to Mexico.

electricity by anywhere from one to three per cent.

It saved an estimated 700,000 tons of coal during World War II, according to the Edison Electric Institute of New York City. The Nixon administration estimates it could save 150,000 barrels of oil a day this winter.

Bauer says daylight time can save energy because the nation's demand for energy does not stay constant — it hits peaks and valleys during a 24-hour cycle.

He said one peak comes during the late afternoon, while a valley usually occurs in the morning hours.

Utility companies normally use their most efficient generators as much as possible while retaining their least efficient generators only to boost power during the peak periods, Bauer said.

Thus, by shifting an hour of daylight to the evening, daylight time cuts down the need for electricity during a peak period, and lessens the likelihood that the less efficient generators will be needed.

Dr. Bauer also says he feels people will use less electricity in the morning hour of darkness than they did at night.

"In the morning, in most parts of the country, it's already dark (when people arise), so you've already got lights on," he said.

And he says daylight time also will give people a better chance of getting safely to and from work since they will have more light at a time when many of them are tired and some have had a few drinks.

Suspect Arson In Go-Go Blaze

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Traces of gasoline found among debris of a fire that destroyed the Brass Ass nightclub last week have lead investigators to believe the fire was the result of arson.

The findings came after analysis at a Cincinnati laboratory, according to Assistant Newport Fire Chief James Tehan.

The early-morning blaze leveled the well-known Newport go-go and strip spot.

Tehan and state arson investigator Phil Hampton are continuing the investigation.

Israeli Proposals Not Complete

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israeli government says it has not completed the proposal for disengagement of Israeli and Egyptian forces on the Suez front which it will submit at the Geneva negotiations.

"No decisions have as yet been taken regarding the next phase of the issues discussed by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan during his visit to Washington," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

Dayan said last week after his talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that the Israeli cabinet could go ahead with formation of concrete proposals. Several newspapers reported that Israel would offer to pull its forces back 18 miles from the Suez Canal if Egypt agreed to reduce substantially its troops and arms on the east side of the waterway.

The Foreign Ministry spokesman called the press reports "purely speculative" and said all matters relating to troop disengagement were still under discussion in the cabinet and through diplomatic channels.

The Israeli government also denied a Syrian claim that 25 Israeli soldiers were killed in an artillery and tank battle on the Golan Heights Tuesday.

Israel said the Syrians opened fire, there was a seven-hour exchange of artillery and tank fire, and seven Israelis were wounded.

An Israeli communique also charged Egyptian forces with small-arms and mortar fire along the Suez Canal, but reported no Israeli casualties.

Arab diplomats in Beirut reported that Egypt, Syria and Jordan will hold a summit conference in Damascus to coordinate strategy for the second phase of the Middle East peace talks opening in Geneva late this month.

One informant said King Hussein of Jordan would urge Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria to form a single delegation representing Jordan, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and the Palestinians. Syria, Lebanon and the Palestinians have not joined the Geneva talks, and Egypt and Jordan have separate delegations.

Hussein wants a unified delegation because he is afraid Israel might tempt Egypt with territorial concessions, and Cairo would make a separate peace without insisting on the return of Jordanian territory seized by Israel in the 1967 war.

The diplomats in Beirut also reported that Kissinger plans another swing around the Middle East before the end of the month. But in Washington, State Department officials say no such trip is in the works yet.

Lagging Car Sales Cause Layoffs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lagging car sales have caused the layoff of nearly 1,300 workers at four General Motors Corp. plants here.

The company said 700 workers were furloughed at its Frigidaire plant, 370 at the Inland plant, 115 at the Delco Moraine plant and 100 at the Delco products plant.

PTO Correction

Washington Twp. PTO will meet 7:30 p.m. Thursday and not Wednesday as inadvertently listed in Tuesday's edition of The Herald.

For the program the annual talent show will be presented.

Advantages Of Time Change Explained By Federal Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight Saving Time will save energy even if people turn on as many lights to brush their teeth in the morning as they did to down their martinis at night, says a government scientist.

It also could provide bonus benefits by giving people a better chance to safely reach their home after work, says Dr. Douglas Bauer.

Bauer, deputy assistant director of research for the Office of Energy Conservation, says daylight time could cut the nation's demand for heat and

Why Not Brown, Asks Metzenbaum

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, questioned Tuesday why U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Urbana, was not chosen as the Republican Party's choice for the U.S. senatorial race.

Metzenbaum called Brown "as formidable a candidate as Republicans could have chosen for this year's senatorial race."

The nation's newest Senator said he felt the surname Brown would have proved a great advantage for Republicans over Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk in terms of statewide voter recognition.

Republican representatives from the state's 14 large Ohio counties agreed Tuesday to support Perk's candidacy. "I have great respect for him (Brown) even though we disagree politically," Metzenbaum said. He was in Springfield as part of his statewide tour to get to know his constituents.

Last week, Metzenbaum was endorsed by the Ohio Democratic party's executive committee as their candidate for the U.S. Senate. He was sworn in less than a week ago to fill the seat vacated by Republican William Saxbe, the nation's new attorney general.

Lepidopterous insects have been on earth at least 50 million years, according to Abbott Laboratories, and their larvae defoliate hundreds of thousands of acres of trees every year.

Mobile Homes Object Of State Study Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Recommendations for the licensing, development and zoning of mobile home parks are contained in a study report issued Tuesday by the state Department of Economic and Community Development.

"What we need now are further regulations, further laws and further concern for mobile home residents—one of the most forgotten segments of the housing picture in Ohio," said David Sweet, the agency director.

Sweet said the department's survey of mobile home residents in Ohio showed most are young, married couples or retired persons with yearly incomes averaging $7,000 to $9,000.

He said survey results showed that the impressions many have of mobile home residents as being "the irresponsible and transients of our society" are in error.

Nixon Turns 61; Weary, Determined

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — A weary but determined President Nixon marks his 61st birthday today, bent on yet another attempt to put Watergate behind him.

With his so-called "Operation Candor" apparently wrapped up in the form of Tuesday's "white papers" on the ITT and milk price support controversies, Nixon was described as ready to begin emphasizing his leadership role and his talents at statecraft.

What could be a make-or-break effort on Nixon's part is expected to emerge most forcefully in his forthcoming State of the Union blueprint for the nation's future and in diplomatic initiatives to grapple with the energy crisis on an international scale.

The President's associates agree he was worked very hard during his California stay, now in its 14th day. Several acknowledge that he is showing signs of fatigue.

An aide reported Nixon has been getting little rest and even less recreation here. With Southern California suffering through cold, stormy weather, the President's relaxation has centered around unannounced drives through the countryside.

Although some aides confess to discussing among themselves the possibility of a Nixon resignation

Lima Officer Wrote Own Death Rites

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Slain Lima patrolman William Brown, in an eulogy he wrote for his own funeral service Tuesday, called upon those attending to not resist God's call for their lost souls.

"This service is not for brother Bill Brown," the congregation was told in a letter read by the Rev. Nolan Bogart at services at the Sifred Westwood Chapel. The Rev. Mr. Bogart is pastor of the Mount Tabor Church of God near Lewistown.

"This service is for the souls still in the earthly bodies," Brown's letter said. "Come and let God do for you what He did for me. Praise His holy name."

The Rev. Mr. Bogart said Brown wrote the letter two years ago and gave it to his wife with instructions that it be given the clergyman handling his funeral services after his death.

More than 200 law enforcement officers from Ohio and nearby states attended the services. About 70 police cruisers and a like number of private vehicles drove in a procession from the church to the cemetery.

Brown, 40, was shot fatally during an apparent robbery attempt Saturday night. Police still are searching for his killer.

A memorial fund for the 17-year police veteran was opened Tuesday with a $1,000 donation by Mayor Harry Moyer, who expressed hope that other citizens will respond with donations to "show the faith and loyalty they have in the men who maintain law and order in the community."

A reward fund begun Tuesday by private citizens has grown to more than $3,500.

should scandal continue to dog him, they express confidence he will not quit.

An assistant who almost always echoes Nixon's sentiments declared: "He's not going to permit the government, himself and the executive branch to become consumed by Watergate. No President has ever gone through a year of attack, or pressure, like this past one. We've had a year of it, and enough is enough. Let's move on."

Yet Watergate does remain close to the forefront of White House thinking.

"Nobody's hiding from it," said a man who is very close to the President. "It's staring us right in the face."

One aide said that the President is convinced that the Democratic party establishment, liberals in general and important elements of the news media are making a concerted effort to destroy him. This source said that Nixon emphasized the belief in table-thumping staff meetings shortly before he flew here Dec. 26.

Although Nixon's doctors say his health is basically sound, the past year of intense pressure has taken a toll noticeably in a face that is more deeply lined and often ashen.

"I've never been conscious of his age before," remarked a close associate. "Now I am."

Some say Nixon's July bout with what was diagnosed as viral pneumonia hit him harder than most people know.

One source acknowledged that Nixon sometimes walks with a limp, although the White House has consistently denied it. The informant attributed this to a chronic muscle problem in the lower back. He also reported the President apparently broke a toe about a year ago in a fall at the edge of his Camp David, Md., swimming pool.

YMCA Announces Winter Informal Ed Classes

Forty-six classes with 20 instructors will start the Winter '74 YMCA Informal Education Classes Jan. 21. It was announced today by Harold Hewitt, executive director of Pickaway County Family YMCA.

There are classes of interest for persons aged three to 93, according to Hewitt.

Mobile Homes Object Of State Study Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Recommendations for the licensing, development and zoning of mobile home parks are contained in a study report issued Tuesday by the state Department of Economic and Community Development.

"What we need now are further regulations, further laws and further concern for mobile home residents—one of the most forgotten segments of the housing picture in Ohio," said David Sweet, the agency director.

Sweet said the department's survey of mobile home residents in Ohio showed most are young, married couples or retired persons with yearly incomes averaging $7,000 to $9,000.

He said survey results showed that the impressions many have of mobile home residents as being "the irresponsible and transients of our society" are in error.

Nixon Turns 61; Weary, Determined

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — A weary but determined President Nixon marks his 61st birthday today, bent on yet another attempt to put Watergate behind him.

With his so-called "Operation Candor" apparently wrapped up in the form of Tuesday's "white papers" on the ITT and milk price support controversies, Nixon was described as ready to begin emphasizing his leadership role and his talents at statecraft.

What could be a make-or-break effort on Nixon's part is expected to emerge most forcefully in his forthcoming State of the Union blueprint for the nation's future and in diplomatic initiatives to grapple with the energy crisis on an international scale.

The President's associates agree he was worked very hard during his California stay, now in its 14th day. Several acknowledge that he is showing signs of fatigue.

An aide reported Nixon has been getting little rest and even less recreation here. With Southern California suffering through cold, stormy weather, the President's relaxation has centered around unannounced drives through the countryside.

Although some aides confess to discussing among themselves the possibility of a Nixon resignation should scandal continue to dog him, they express confidence he will not quit.

An assistant who almost always echoes Nixon's sentiments declared: "He's not going to permit the government, himself and the executive branch to become consumed by Watergate. No President has ever gone through a year of attack, or pressure, like this past one. We've had a year of it, and enough is enough. Let's move on."

Yet Watergate does remain close to the forefront of White House thinking.

"Nobody's hiding from it," said a man who is very close to the President. "It's staring us right in the face."

One aide said that the President is convinced that the Democratic party establishment, liberals in general and important elements of the news media are making a concerted effort to destroy him. This source said that Nixon emphasized the belief in table-thumping staff meetings shortly before he flew here Dec. 26.

Although Nixon's doctors say his health is basically sound, the past year of intense pressure has taken a toll noticeably in a face that is more deeply lined and often ashen.

"I've never been conscious of his age before," remarked a close associate. "Now I am."

Some say Nixon's July bout with what was diagnosed as viral pneumonia hit him harder than most people know.

One source acknowledged that Nixon sometimes walks with a limp, although the White House has consistently denied it. The informant attributed this to a chronic muscle problem in the lower back. He also reported the President apparently broke a toe about a year ago in a fall at the edge of his Camp David, Md., swimming pool.

Lima Officer Wrote Own Death Rites

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Slain Lima patrolman William Brown, in an eulogy he wrote for his own funeral service Tuesday, called upon those attending to not resist God's call for their lost souls.

"This service is not for brother Bill Brown," the congregation was told in a letter read by the Rev. Nolan Bogart at services at the Sifred Westwood Chapel. The Rev. Mr. Bogart is pastor of the Mount Tabor Church of God near Lewistown.

"This service is for the souls still in the earthly bodies," Brown's letter said. "Come and let God do for you what He did for me. Praise His holy name."

The Rev. Mr. Bogart said Brown wrote the letter two years ago and gave it to his wife with instructions that it be given the clergyman handling his funeral services after his death.

More than 200 law enforcement officers from Ohio and nearby states attended the services. About 70 police cruisers and a like number of private vehicles drove in a procession from the church to the cemetery.

Brown, 40, was shot fatally during an apparent robbery attempt Saturday night. Police still are searching for his killer.

A memorial fund for the 17-year police veteran was opened Tuesday with a $1,000 donation by Mayor Harry Moyer, who expressed hope that other citizens will respond with donations to "show the faith and loyalty they have in the men who maintain law and order in the community."

A reward fund begun Tuesday by private citizens has grown to more than $3,500.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may have to discipline yourself sternly to keep on the road to accomplishment now. Be especially careful not lose your temper if certain persons annoy.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): As with Aries, watch your moods on Thursday. Do nothing to arouse opposition or estrangement either with business associates or loved ones.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You should have new ambition and incentive now. An interesting business proposition could prove profitable. Personal relationships also highly favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some delays indicated, but if you'll take them in stride and maintain an even disposition, day's accomplishments will far exceed your expectations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Beneficent solar influences indicate that you could now strive for higher goal. You may have to take a different route to achieve it, but the new road could be a better one.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Distractions and interruptions may upset regular routine, but take disturbances with your usual aplomb and a philosophical attitude. Do your own thinking—as you usually do.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Watch your budget now. Don't go beyond limits until a pending financial matter is definitely settled. Some new angles could delay matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Don't get caught in the middle of a dispute between associates. In fact, try to stay out of involvements with others completely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A day of mixed influences. Be careful in your approaches. Others may read more into your words and actions than you intend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): What you feel is a certainty could be mere wishful thinking. Better take a second look and change plans if necessary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Early a.m. will hold some restrictions, bringing little result for your efforts. Be patient: the hours after noon will see an upturn in all your endeavors.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Neither be extravagant in an effort to impress others nor fall for any ostentatiousness displayed for your benefit. Concentrate on what's REAL and dependable.

YOU BORN TODAY have a strong leaning to the sciences—and, with it, the tremendous patience, meticulousness and fondness for research and details so necessary to success in this field. Your energy and determination are outstanding and you will let nothing stand in the way of achieving your objectives. Also an opportunist, you seize at any chance to advance yourself—even though that chance may look like "pretty small potatoes" to others.

Fields other than science, at which you could succeed: the law, literature, banking or real estate. Try to curb tendencies toward moodiness and excessive introspection.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—Another new network radio series will debut next March, bringing to three the number of daily network radio drama series that have hit the airwaves since mid-December.

Its executive producer, Byron Lewis, jokingly describes the coming show as "soap opera in the classic sense: trauma upon trauma upon trauma." But it'll be markedly different than any past or present trauma drama aired on a network. Called "Sounds of the City," it's aimed at black listeners, performed by black actors and actresses and produced by a black-owned company, Uni-World Group, Inc., which Lewis heads.

"It's about a black family in a variety of situations that any black family would experience in a contemporary urban setting," says Lewis, 42, born in Newark, N.J., and raised in Queens, N.Y.

The 15-minute show, about the family of a black policeman in an unidentified large city in the North, will be broadcast by the Mutual Black Network, a subsidiary of the Mutual Broadcasting System in Washington, D.C.

An MBN spokesman says at least 25 of the network's 83 affiliates will carry the show when it starts in early March. It'll air five days a week and have a regular cast of seven performers.

It initially will run for 26 weeks, possibly longer, and is fully sponsored by the Quaker Oats Co., according to Lewis.

The series will focus on experiences of the Calvin Taylor family, a clan that includes two teen-agers, an older daughter recently graduated from college and their aunt and uncle.

What gave Lewis the idea for the series?

One factor, he said with a laugh, was his childhood memories of how his mother and aunt were "totally involved in radio soap operas—things like 'Stella Dallas,' 'John's Other Life' and 'Our Gal Sunday.'"

"I never could understand it because it was almost as if the characters were members of our family, and here this was a black family, relating to white characters in white situations."

But it really was created, he said, because there are few programs directed to black interests, despite the current success of movies and television programs featuring black stars.

"And we, as an agency, are always interested in trying to find better ways to reach our market," said Lewis, whose 4½-year-old firm handles black-oriented advertising and public relations campaigns.

"We just felt the time was ripe for it," he said, adding that he aimed for the ear instead of the eye "because we think that black radio, on a market-to-market basis, has the greatest coverage of the black household."

Views On Television
NEW YORK (AP) — Another new network radio series will debut next March, bringing to three the number of daily network radio drama series that have hit the airwaves since mid-December.

Its executive producer, Byron Lewis, jokingly describes the coming show as "soap opera in the classic sense: trauma upon trauma upon trauma." But it'll be markedly different than any past or present trauma drama aired on a network. Called "Sounds of the City," it's aimed at black listeners, performed by black actors and actresses and produced by a black-owned company, Uni-World Group, Inc., which Lewis heads.

"It's about a black family in a variety of situations that any black family would experience in a contemporary urban setting," says Lewis, 42, born in Newark, N.J., and raised in Queens, N.Y. The 15-minute show, about the family of a black policeman in an unidentified large city in the North, will be broadcast by the Mutual Black Network, a subsidiary of the Mutual Broadcasting System in Washington, D.C.

An MBN spokesman says at least 25 of the network's 83 affiliates will carry the show when it starts in early March. It'll air five days a week and have a regular cast of seven performers. It initially will run for 26 weeks, possibly longer, and is fully sponsored by the Quaker Oats Co., according to Lewis. The series will focus on experiences of the Calvin Taylor family, a clan that includes two teen-agers, an older daughter recently graduated from college and their aunt and uncle.

What gave Lewis the idea for the series? One factor, he said with a laugh, was his childhood memories of how his mother and aunt were "totally involved in radio soap operas — things like 'Stella Dallas,' 'John's Other Life' and 'Our Gal Sunday.'"

"I never could understand it because it was almost as if the characters were members of our family, and here this was a black family, relating to white characters in white situations."

But it really was created, he said, because there are few programs directed to black interests, despite the current success of movies and television programs featuring black stars.

"And we, as an agency, are always interested in trying to find better ways to reach our market," said Lewis, whose 4½-year-old firm handles black-oriented advertising and public relations campaigns.

"We just felt the time was ripe for it," he said, adding that he aimed for the ear instead of the eye "because we think that black radio, on a market-to-market basis, has the greatest coverage of the black household."

Parliament Studies Crisis In Britian

LONDON (AP) — Parliament was called back into session today to debate the energy crisis crippling Britain, the labor disputes causing it and what the Conservative government is doing about it.

Before facing the House of Commons, Prime Minister Edward Heath created a new department of energy and named the defense secretary, Lord Carrington, to head it. The government said he would be given wide powers over the nation's coal, gas, electricity and oil resources.

Heath's secretary of employment, William Whitelaw, was meeting with leaders of the coal miners whose refusal to work overtime has cut the supply of coal to the nation's power stations. Whitelaw planned to ask for the 280,000 miners to vote on the 16½ per cent pay increase their leaders have rejected.

Leaders of the railway engineers' union also were meeting today to consider expanding their slowdown into a strike. The railmen were angered because the rail board announced anyone who "deliberately" refused to work would not be paid. Government sources said if the trainmen struck, the army might be ordered to keep the trains running so that deliveries of coal to the power stations would not be reduced further.

The miners' ban on overtime in support of their wage demands has cut coal output some 40 per cent. The rail slowdown, also in support of demands for higher pay, has further reduced the supply of coal to the power stations as well as halted most train service to the sprawling London suburbs.

To conserve the coal supply at the power stations, nonessential industries and businesses went on a three-day week Jan. 1. The government said by Tuesday, 915,000 of Britain's 25 million workers had registered for unemployment pay because the shortened work week had made them eligible. This figure does not include the nation's 490,000 permanently unemployed and thousands of women factory workers who are not entitled to register for unemployment benefits.
